Reading month to start in Frederic

March reading month at Frederic Elementary School will be starting one day early.

On Feb. 28, "The Wonderful World of Reading" will be kicked-off with an assembly beginning at 9 a.m. in the school's library.

Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs will be featured along with Cinderella's ugly step-sister.

Also on Feb. 28, Patty Clark, a storyteller, will present an art project that will spellbind the elementary students.

Community leaders will be reading to various classes throughout the month. During the first week of the program the readers will be as follows: on March 3, Terri Chott will be reading. Pat Nunn will be reading at 11 a.m. Tuesday, March 4 and Thursday, March 6.

Lewis Madill will be reading at 9 a.m. on March 4. D. Vogel and J. Emmons will be reading at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m., respectively, on March 5.

Paul Lerg will be reading at 9:30 a.m. on March 6 and Barb Mick will be reading at 9:30 a.m. on March 7.

Three bulletin boards have been created at the school to encourage the students to read.

"When you read upon a star" features Jiminy Cricket. For each book that students read they earn a colored star to place on the poster's rainbow. Each classroom has a special color for their stars.

"Bibbity, Bobbity, Boo! I read, do you?" features Cinderella's fairy godmother asking all students to read.

At the entrance to the school's library is Cinderella's castle featuring the sentiment "Welcome to the Magic Kingdom of Reading".

Each day in March has a special reading message. The messages for the first week are as follows: "Read a Dr. Seuss Story Day" (March 3), "Make a Bookmark" (March 4), "Write a Poem Day" (March 5), "Door Decorating Day" (March 6) and "Share a Fact Day" (March 7).

During the week of March 17-24 a Scholastic book fair will be held from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. on Monday through Thursday. On Friday the fair will be held from 8:30 to 10:30 a.m.

For those who wish to purchase a book, but there is only one copy left, a list will be made. Other copies of the book will be ordered and those books will be delivered to the school Monday, March 24.

Treasurer to resign in March

Lovells Township Treasurer Dolores Haberland has handed in her resignation.

According to Haberland, the resignation, effective March 31, was handed in for personal reasons.

The Lovells Township Board will hold a special meeting in March to appoint a new treasurer.

Activity center for youth set to open

The doors to a new community youth center will open on Saturday, March 1, for the first time. The Christian Youth Activity Center will be located in the former Fred Bear Museum at Hanson Hills.

The youth center will give sixth through 12th grade students something to do on weekend nights. The new activity center will be open on Friday nights, from 5 to 10 p.m.; Saturdays, from noon to 10 p.m.; and Sundays, from 12:30 to 5:30 p.m.

The center will feature an open gym, video games, a lounge area, pool tables, card tables and games. Organizers also are hoping to have other activities in the future, including summer concerts and speakers.

The cost is $2 a day for gym use and video games will cost 25 cents. Parents can just drop their kids off at the youth center. A permission slip will have to be completed on the first visit. A hired person will always be at the youth center, organizers said.

The residents who have been working on the project include Robert McLachlan, Mary Nama, Robert Henley, Lyle Studer and Josh Colby.

The organizers felt there was a need in the community to find a safe and positive environment for the kids of the area. Businesses, service organizations and churches contributed to the effort to get things started.

Some items the youth center still needs include furniture, games, basketballs, a TV and a VCR, ping-pong tables and volleyball nets. Anyone wishing to donate needed items can contact McLachlan at 348-4440.

YOUTH GAMES — Video games and other items have been unloaded at the new youth center at Hanson Hills. The youth center is located in the former Fred Bear Museum. Daniel Jurkovich, left, and Robert McLachlan were two of the person who helped unload the items.

Ignash earns appointment to Air Force Academy

Congressman Dave Camp (R-Midland) announced recently that Andrew Ignash has been appointed to the United States Air Force Academy.

"It's been a dream of mine to go into the Air Force," Ignash said.

Ignash, son of Robert and Bonnie Ignash of Grayling, is a Grayling High School graduate.

While at the academy Ignash plans to major in engineering throughout his four years. Upon graduation from the academy Ignash would like to attend the flight school.

"I don't plan on being career Air Force. I'd rather finish out my commitment and then get into commercial flight," Ignash said.

Ignash is currently a cadet at the Marion Military Institute in Marion, Alabama.

City increases water rate to defray service expense

by Eric Gaertner
News Editor

City of Grayling residents will be paying a slight increase when it comes to city water rates.

The city council members approved a motion at their Feb. 24 council meeting to adopt a new rate structure to provide more adequate funding for the city's water/sewer enterprise fund. The increased rate will be spread over a three-year period with the rate being reviewed after each year by council.

The water rate per 1,000 gallons will increase from 83 cents to 88 cents. The sewer rate will remain at $2.97.

The city's new water rate is still lower than the surrounding area, said Grayling City Manager Jerry Morford.

Grayling Mayor Robert Golnick pointed out that the increase was needed to balance the money being spent with the money coming in for the city water service. The water service is supposed to operate and pay for itself without having to spend money for it out of the general fund.

One disagreement which did arise at the council meeting concerning the water/sewer rates was the date it becomes effective. According to the motion which passed by a 4-1 vote, the rates are retroactive to Jan. 1, 1997. The April city bill for January, February and March usage will be affected.

Roger Moshier, the council member who made the lone dissenting vote, said he believed the new rates should not go into effect until the next quarter, beginning with April use.

A month and a half of water already has been used, so it shouldn't be retroactive to Jan. 1, Moshier said.

Residents are billed quarterly, Morford said. The city has had a loss in the water fund over the last three years, so the city manager said he would prefer it go into effect now rather than April.

In other city council action, the council members decided to change the second of the two meetings scheduled for the month of March. The council usually meets on the second and last Monday of each month, but the members approved a motion to change the March 31 meeting to March 24.

This will make the time between the meetings the normal two weeks and it will avoid the school break, Morford said.

Crawford County invite accepted by track leader Lake County joins race for possibility of race-track facility in its area

by Eric Gaertner
News Editor

The promoters of the proposed Edges race-track project were "extremely enthusiastic" to hear of the large amount of people who showed up at the Feb. 18 Crawford County Board of Commissioners meeting.

Phil Parmelee, the lead promoter for the project, said he accepts the invitation from the county board to come back to Crawford County and further discuss the possibility of placing the race-track facility in Crawford County.

A motion was approved by the county commissioners at the Feb. 18 board meeting to invite Parmelee to meet with the Frederic Township board and/or an established task force. The motion was made after a number of Crawford County residents spoke at the meeting in favor of getting more information about the proposed project.

Parmelee originally proposed his project to the commissioners at the Feb. 4 board meeting. He said he would pass on a Crawford County location at that time, due to the mixed opinions of support and against the project from the commissioners.

It was quite fantastic to see the amount of signatures (approximately 3,000) garnered in such a short time from people who want to hear more details on the project, Parmelee said. "We are pleasantly surprised by the numbers," Parmelee said.

The Edges project was first proposed in Kalkaska County, but it was not finalized because promoters could not get the state land from the Department of Natural Resources (DNR). Parmelee will also have to attempt to get state land in Crawford County for the project.

"We have to follow DNR rules which we had to do in Kalkaska," Parmelee said. "After the site is determined and we get the township support, then we will file a request with the DNR. Then it is up to the DNR."

The promoters are attempting a little different strategy this time to acquire the state land needed. This time the group is asking for local people and local governmental support initially, Parmelee said. This should make the DNR act differently with the community support.

The motion by the county board to invite Parmelee back also included a portion which states the commissioners will look favorably upon the acquisition of state land for this project.

Crawford County is not the only county looking into the possibility of having the race-track facility in its area. Parmelee has presented his project to Lake County too.

"After the site is determined and we get the township support, then we will file a request with the DNR. Then it is up to the DNR."

-- Phil Parmelee, Lead promoter for race-track facility

According to Parmelee, Lake and Crawford counties are the only two being considered in Michigan at this time.

Parmelee said the group of promoters always has said they would discuss other locations until a final location is approved.

The proposed facility would include three race tracks — an oval, a road course and a drag strip. A major race through a racing circuit and a professional racer to sign on to the track are in the future plans, following the building of the facility.

Although a major race won't be able to be courted until the facility is built, the track is being built so NASCAR could run on it, Parmelee said.

Parmelee pointed out that promoters need to have a location and an insured facility in place before the race officials for the major races will even consider talking about a race on the track. The key is to get the land, Parmelee said.

A professional race car driver will be considered too. The project needs to be a sure thing and being built before any driver will put his "signature" on the track.

Community says farewell to chamber director

by Eric Gaertner
News Editor

Chamber officials are dropping (leaving) like flies.

Last month the former president of the Grayling Regional Chamber of Commerce, Don Schanz, and his wife Rae Ann Schanz had their farewell at the chamber's annual meeting.

Now, it is Chamber of Commerce Executive Jerry Meyer and his wife Nancy Meyer who are leaving. The farewell for the community leaders was held on Wednesday, Feb. 19, at the chamber's "Business After Hours" segment.

An interim director, Ron Joyce of Grayling, has been hired by the chamber to fill in while the search for a permanent replacement for Meyer is sought. It is the hope of chamber officials to have a new director in place by the end of March.

Meyer, who has been the executive director for the past two years, announced his resignation a few weeks ago and will be taking a similar position in Rhode Island.

Gifts and speeches of gratitude were presented to the Meyers from chamber members and community organizations. The purpose of the farewell gathering was to honor Nancy and Jerry Meyer for the many items they have done for the community.

Facilitator, communicator and coordinator were the three words used by Chamber President Keith Kenney to represent the work Jerry Meyer has done for the community and chamber.

Kenney also used a phrase he heard from David Sabin which points out the result of Meyer's work, "Beginning to see a unity of purpose in our organizations and our community."

Sabin, a Grayling Area Visitors Council member, said Jerry Meyer gave direction and guidance to the visitors council and the chamber.

Community officials representing such organizations as the Grayling Promotional Association, Grayling Recreation Authority, AuSable Canoe Marathon and the AuSable Valley Snowmobile Association.

The Meyers, who are moving to Rhode Island to be closer to their family, said they will miss the Grayling area and the people. Jerry Meyer said he has real special feelings about Grayling, because Grayling gave him a chance at being a chamber director.

"This community is going places and it won't stop here," Meyer said. "Have a good ride."

FAREWELL DINNER — Jerry and Nancy Meyer receive gifts from Mary Jo Conway, Grayling Promotional Association president. The Meyers farewell evening was put on by the Chamber of Commerce on Wednesday, Feb. 19.

Local HIV prevention group launches new 1997 programs

The Regional Community Planning Group (RCPG) for the prevention of HIV in northern Michigan has launched several new educational programs here to increase the community's awareness of HIV and methods of prevention.

The new Opinion Leader Project addresses the special prevention concerns of the gay community. This program trains people who have credibility in this community to talk to others about ways to avoid HIV infection and about how to live healthy life styles.

RCPG will also be continuing its survey of HIV education in regional schools. As a result of last year's survey, schools reported an increased awareness of what they needed to provide appropriate HIV education.

Another program scheduled for continuation is the RCPG's support of Teen Troupe, a group of high school students who reach out to their peers and younger children. Teen Troupe presents programs about acting responsibly, especially with respect to sexuality and HIV prevention.

Research shows that young people are at great risk of infection. Because of this, Wellness Networks of Grand Traverse, Friends North, and HIV/AIDS Networks and Direct Service will sponsor a program to provide information to this group about HIV prevention.

The RCPG is also sponsoring and funding HIV prevention and awareness programs at Northwestern Michigan College in Traverse City and Central Michigan University in Mount Pleasant.

All programs selected for funding result from a careful examination of regional and national HIV statistics, research based projects, and needs assessment information. The projects use local residents in order to have more culturally sensitive programs.

RCPG members are available to community groups as speakers. They can discuss RCPG and its activities in the area, as well as the need for HIV prevention and awareness in northern Michigan.

The RCPG is also seeking new members. Those interested in attending or finding out more information should contact their local representative or Marilyn Lawrence at Northwest Michigan Community Health Agency (formerly District Health Dept. #3, Charlevoix), (616) 547-6523. The nearest representative for the Crawford County area would be Donna C... in Gaylord. She can be reached at (517) 732-4273.

North legislation would leave gas tax increase up to voters

A proposal placing the question of a gas tax increase before the voters on the November 1998 ballot is now in the works, announced Senator Walter North (R-St. Ignace) Feb. 13.

North, sponsor of the legislation, explained the plan as follows:

The legislation would include the proposal of a six-cent increase in the state gas tax in 1999, followed by an additional two-cent increase in the year 2000. The legislation would require a two-thirds vote in both houses of the Legislature to be placed upon the ballot for voter approval or disapproval in November 1998.

"In my opinion, it is obvious that with term limits and the current political climate, the issue of raising the state gas tax will not be addressed this session," North said. "I am not a proponent of increasing the tax, but if the Legislature has not resolved the issue prior to the next election, this proposal would, if approved, create a safety net for transportation infrastructure improvements."

North explained that some transportation reforms have been passed and other reforms are being worked on, including changes in the federal formula to return more money to Michigan. However, if these reforms do not generate enough revenue to meet the infrastructure needs, the adoption of the proposal would give voters another option to generate revenue. In addition, passing the resolution by a two-thirds vote in both houses would spare the expense and effort needed to put an initiative on the ballot through a petition drive, which would require 250,000 signatures.

The joint resolution is currently being drafted by the Legislative Service Bureau.

Information to bring when visiting a tax preparer

If you find you've accumulated a mountain of itemized receipts and old tax papers, the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants (MACPA) offers the following tips on what you may need to take with you when meeting with your CPA.

1. Prior to meeting with your tax preparer, review last year's tax return. When you compile your information, this will ensure you consider all income and deductions you've claimed in the past. Reviewing your last return can help you remember these details and determine whether they may be applicable in the current year.

2. Sort canceled checks and paid receipts by payee or type of deduction such as "doctor", "hospital", to save yourself the expense of having your CPA do a task you can easily do.

3. Be sure to bring all W-2s and 1099s. If you sold stocks in 1996, bring the information as to the date of sale and proceeds from the sale, as well as the data from when you bought it, including date of purchase and the amount you paid. If any dividends have been automatically reinvested, gather the amount of those dividends. Since these add to the cost basis of the investment, they will alter your gain or loss on the sale.

4. If you sold your house in 1996, bring all closing papers from the sale as well as the papers from when you purchased it. If you bought another house, bring the bill of sale and those closing papers also. Any major improvements to the house you sold, such as adding an addition, installing central air conditioning or lawn sprinklers, need to be documented as they may reduce the gain on the sale.

5. If you claim children under age 14 as dependents on your tax return and they have investment income greater than $650, but less than $5,000, you may elect to include their investment income (interest and dividends) on your tax return. Be sure to bring your children's 1099s and social security numbers. If you choose not to include such income on your return, your child will nevertheless pay taxes based on your top marginal tax rate.

6. With day care becoming more common, the "Child and Dependent Care Credit" may be claimed against your income tax liability. If you or your spouse are gainfully employed with dependent children under the age of 13 in day care, you will need to bring names and social security numbers of the eligible children, along with a summary listing of all child care expenses incurred/paid in 1996 to day care centers or in-home care providers. Remember to bring information about care givers such as name, address, telephone number and either social security number or federal employer identification number.

7. People receiving social security benefits will need to bring Form SSA-1099, the "Social Security Benefit Statement," showing total social security benefits paid to you as well as Medicare premiums paid on your behalf. Up to 85 percent of social security benefits may be included in gross income, so your CPA will need this information to compute the taxable portion, if any, of your social security received.

8. Finally, write down any questions you may have before meeting with your CPA. If these questions are based on an article you've read, it's helpful to bring that with you. If a friend has offered tax advice given to them by their tax preparer, be sure to ask your CPA, since that advice may not be applicable to all situations.

Maybe one side is winning this strike

THERE'S AN adage that refers to circumstances which exist.

In the case of the Detroit newspaper strike — now about 12 months old — that may not be entirely true.

Looking objectively at new things are going on within the Detroit News and Detroit Free Press, some of the striking points about the newspaper strike.

Since the Cleveland Foundation, owner of The News, has lost from $24.75 a share to $1.34 a share while the strike has been going on. Since the Knight-Ridder Corporation, owner of The Free Press, has gone from about $22.75 a share to $4.15.

Even in today's booming stock market, those are respectable gains.

According to various reports, newspaper owners have eliminated 600 jobs during the strike and are operating better. There are jobs that had become outdated by technology and efficiency.

And, both papers, which losing circulation, have had enough replacement workers to maintain journalistic credibility.

They have never missed a day of publication.

All in all, the newspapers have done a right thing by a difficult and creative circumstances.

AND STRIKERS? How have the workers fared?

Overall, not nearly as well.

Some have taken other jobs, some have lost in the newspaper industry. Others have moved into other fields. Some others have managed to return.

And many, many others have been drawing strike benefits and existing on a veritable financial shoestring.

With support from other unions, importantly the auto workers, strikers have published their own newspaper for the public, The Sunday Journal.

It's an entirely creditable newspaper with solid readership and has been around long enough now for members of the Michigan Press Association, the professional organization for Michigan newspapers.

Through all the sometimes perilous and always difficult months, the strikers have maintained their integrity. They have fought for what they believed.

In many ways, that's really done an accomplishment.

But measured in dollars and cents, up to this point the strikers have lost. Owners and management have been winning.

And historically, dollars and cents is really what most strike is all about.

THERE ARE other winners and losers in the Detroit strike.

Suburban newspapers — both weekly and daily — have benefited greatly from the strike.

Advertising has grown. So has circulation.

"A lot of people had not been exposed to our newspaper," said Dan Duncan, publisher of the daily Grandville Press.

He said the strike gave those readers a chance to see and read our paper regularly.

Circulation at Grandville Press has risen more than 25 percent, and the newspaper has added new hires for news and sales staff.

Richard Agniet, president of Observer and Exponent newspaper — the largest group of non-daily newspapers in the Detroit suburbs — noticed similar gains for his publications.

But Mr. Agniet found a sinister side to some developments. He pointed out that advertisers and readers discovered other media and provided newspapers as a regular part of their lives and businesses.

According to reports in The Free Press:

Said Mr. Agniet: "We've all been hurt. Those readers are gone forever."

HE'S RIGHT, of course.

Newspapers are having a tough time encouraging new readers to replace older ones. That's a national development.

Younger generations are turning to television, or the internet, or other sources for their news. Or even worse, they are turning our news awareness altogether. They aren't interested in news. They don't care.

Any reader lost to the newspaper business is important, and as Dick Agniet points out, The Detroit strike has caused plenty of readers to look elsewhere.

Neither side in this strike may be winning the Detroit newspaper strike.

But one thing is sure.

One real loser is the newspaper industry itself.

Probably the old adage is correct.

In the end, nobody wins a strike.

Everybody loses something.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Race track project is wrong type of growth

To the editor:

In answer to the letters supporting the race track complex, let me say this:

You say board members said they have talked with people in their districts, but you haven't been called. Of course not, people are calling them.

None of our commissioners asked for "technical" information, such as financials for the project. Who do you think is going to pay for the purchase of state land and maintenance of such a complex?

Also, could you please define the "economic boom" to our community.

and the 300 full-time and 2,000 part-time "well-paying jobs"? Don't make me laugh. It is winter from October to May in the north, so how many days of good weather do you think the track would be open and to what kind of race cars? Have you ever heard the noise of a drag strip — it can be heard for miles.

Yes, we oppose the race track complex, because we care about the kind of growth for our community.

Al and Elaine Boyd
Grayling

Race track is not the kind of 'progress' needed

To the editor:

I am writing in response to the letters you received the last couple of weeks concerning the proposed race track.

I have lived in Crawford County for 45 years, and my family has owned property here since 1964. I recently have purchased my first parcel of land, so I feel I have a stake in what decisions are made for our community.

A race track, in my opinion, is not the sort of business we need. Most of us who originally came to northern Michigan from the cities downstate, moved here to get away from the "progress," so stated. Not that our family is against the betterment of our towns and communities. But yes, we must be selective in how we want our communities to grow.

To the gentlemen who wrote in last week's paper, if it's the city you want, there is plenty of it downstate. My suggestion is to move there. Those of us planning on having children, want them to grow up in safe and secure communities.

Yes, let's build the businesses that will better our area, and create decent jobs. Catering to the tourists does not always have to be the norm. I like being able to go into local stores and know the names of half the people there. That's why it's called "living in a small town." So if you are taking votes, my support stands with the board (in regards to Feb. 4 meeting).

POINT OF VIEW

by Jerry Morford, Grayling City Manager and City Clerk

City grows, develops over last 25 years

Here, this is my first attempt at writing a brief column for your hometown paper, the Crawford County Avalanche. Several weeks ago I was asked by Eric Gaertner of the Avalanche to participate with several other public officials in a rotating local column to replace a non-local column that used to appear in this space. There have been columns by James Briley and Gary McConnell, relating to their respective operations. Other authors are scheduled for future weeks, therefore I will continue my remarks to the City of Grayling's progress and issues. This first column will be devoted to setting the stage for future columns by using some of the projects and issues which may be addressed.

My family and I moved to Grayling in June of 1972. One of the first events I became involved with was the centennial celebration for the city. The growth and development of the city during the first 100 years is well documented in the centennial book. It is my purpose, therefore, to discuss the growth and development of Grayling from 1872 to the present.

In 1872, the City of Grayling had a population of about 100 people and the city limits covered only a few blocks. The area south of M-77, however, the south half of the city, was being developed by the industrial park.

The City of Grayling at that time was a small town and the city property tax rate was $4.44 in 1972. It was $9.50 in 1995, and $11.64 for 1996. The city has had a long history of providing services to its citizens and has been a leader in the City of Grayling. The City of Grayling now has a 50% increase in population and the city limits are 4.4 miles in length. The area economy of course has had its up and down but a partial list of projects and accomplishments since 1972 would include the following:

1. Annexation of approximately 1,200 square miles to the City of Grayling and development of all businesses in the south I-75 business loop area and the industrial park area.

2. Improvement to the city sewer system which included removal of the city's waste water effluent from the AuSable River by construction of a sewer laggon system south of the industrial park which was finished in 1975.

3. The city's water system has been improved by the addition of a new water well north of Route 136 and the installation of a new 500,000 gallon water tower in the Industrial Park. This replaced the old water tower which held 100,000 gallons. These improvements effectively provided the capacity of the city's water system along with other growing the city's water main system by increasing the size of several mains and providing new service lines to commercial and residential areas.

4. The City of Grayling has had 22 street and sidewalk construction programs during the past 25 years and we now have the finest street system in Michigan for a city its size. All of this has been accomplished through the cooperative efforts of the citizens of the City of Grayling working with city officials, business people, civic organizations and state and federal government. The list could be expanded much further than the above items. We could have talked about building a new fire station, the renovation of City Hall, and its occupation by the Michigan State Police Forensic Lab, the development of a children's playground in city park through volunteer efforts and city participation and many other projects including a new Master Plan which is currently being developed in cooperation with Grayling Township.

In future articles I hope to cover the private development which has occurred in the City of Grayling and to touch on other projects which have impacted the area's economy by providing jobs for area residents. I would welcome your comments regarding these or other issues you may wish to discuss. Please stop by City Hall at 125 S. James Street or call me at 544-2125.

FROM OUR CORNER

By Whitney Madsen

Pondering events of the day, etc.

A little bit of this... and a little bit of that... of one man's opinions...

SPRING MUST BE just around the corner, the information period is over. Our natives have shown their restlessness in the past couple weeks over a proposed race track to be built in Crawford County.

The letters to the editor recently not only on the race track but on other happenings, show that the people may be ready to get involved in what happens in Crawford County and Grayling.

This I may add is refreshing. To get families to come here that will bring people to our area, but while you have your adrenalin flowing looking into bringing another chain grocery store to Grayling, to help keep shoppers from going out of town, it might also help to get other merchants to locate here.

IT WOULD BE NICE if the scribe of the Herald-News in the Village south of us would get his information straight. Crawford County Commissioners did not vote unanimously against the race track.

Chairman Bruce Brezizek polled the commissioners for their thoughts — no vote was taken — get the facts before you spread innuendos about another county.

With the proximity of the two counties, I'm sure some of your readers were led way off base on what really happened here.

I COULD HARDLY believe what I read in a couple of articles on the shenanigans that have gone on at Bill and Hillary's Bed and Breakfast side-line in the White House.

The access that hoods, crooks, convicted felons, well-heeled Chinese with high-profile connections with Beijing is beyond comprehension.

One that stood out was Jorge Cabrera, a convicted felon, gave $20,000 to the Democratic Committee and then attended the 1995 White House Christmas party. The next month, agents arrested him with three tons of cocaine. The DNC returned the money. The President is against drugs.

The other article was about three Chinese that had deep pockets which was evident with their generosity of giving $225,000 and $300,000 to the first Clinton inaugural.

Through their financial friendship they also gained access to the White House to the extent of being briefed on some high security intelligence. Clinton acknowledged that one of their visits was "clearly inappropriate."

Another understatement by the President.

Asked at a recent news conference how we would take a Chinese clampdown on Hong Kong's civil liberties, Clinton said "Well, it wouldn't help anything."

Clinton keeps harping on all of us should strive to build a bridge into the 21st Century — while all along he is building a bridge from Washington to Beijing to suit himself and his cronies.

Uncle Sam seems to have forgotten what another Oriental country did to the United States in the early 40s.

And Richard Nixon was forced to resign over a few of his cronies breaking into Watergate to gain information on the Democrats.

THIS MAY BE A FIRST, at least it's the first I have ever known about, seems as the Antique Store next to the Avalanche has been having all kinds of troubles with its sewer.

Everything one could think of was used to unplug the outlet to the main... one source said it ran under the Avalanche, another source claimed it went straight out to the main.

Through taking x-rays, the culprit was found... when the alley was being blacktopped, Consumers had to move some of their poles... that's right, one went right through the sewer line that went straight out.

Too bad Milo Case wasn't around at the time when he worked for the city, he knew the underground sewer and water system like the palm of his hand. None of this would have happened.

MEMO TO WEJIE, sorry I can't use those two magic words — orders from the boss — but I'm sure you know how the bride and I feel about the sausage.

WHAT A TRAVESTY has been made out of the Roberto Alomar situation, when the Baltimore Orioles baseball player was suspended for spitting on an umpire in a game near the end of last season.

The American League suspended him for the first five games beginning this season. It is customary when a player is suspended it is without pay.

Not so in this case... the owner of the Orioles announced that Alomar will be paid for the five games. Nice signal begin sent to other players, from little league right to the top. Disregard any rules... all you get is a slap on the wrist and still get paid.

WHAT OTES ARE SAYING

Washington Monuments Washington comedian Mark Russell "The shortest distance between two jokes is Pennsylvania Avenue."

Mental Arithmetic: David Letterman, noting that President Clinton's State of the Union address was an hour and 12 minutes long, observed, "that works out to 36 minutes on each side of his mouth."

The Pamin Law: Bill Maher of TV's Politically Incorrect, on the Paula Jones case: "(The Supreme Court is) considering two things: Whether a president can be sued while he is in office, and if a resident should be notified if a former Arkansas governor moves next door."

"Nuf said for this time..."

Lowe named vice-chair of senior, veteran committee

Legislative leaders have chosen State Rep. Allen Lowe (R-Grayling) as the Republican vice-chair of the House Senior Citizens and Veterans Affairs Committee for the 1997-98 session.

"Allen is a proven leader on issues affecting seniors and veterans," said House Republican Leader Ken Sikkema (R-Grandville). "Last year, voters overwhelmingly approved his ballot proposal to protect the Michigan Veterans' Trust Fund. This important measure is just one example of how Allen has made a real difference in the Legislature."

Lowe is excited about his committee assignments for the next two years.

"Seniors and veterans have made tremendous sacrifices to make Michigan a better place," Lowe said.

"They've worked hard for their families and fought for our freedom. It's important to remember them as we develop state policy."

The 105th District lawmaker also looks forward to serving on the Forestry and Mineral Rights Committee.

"Natural resources are crucial to northern Michigan's future," Lowe said. "The recent controversy surrounding the Jordan River Valley demonstrates the need for a sound strategy that balances the needs of the environment and the economy."

The region's economic health depends on tourism. As a member of the House Tourism Committee, Lowe will work to promote and expand northern Michigan's travel industry.

"Communication and cooperation are key if Michigan is to remain competitive with other states," Lowe said. "We must build public and private partnerships or fall behind."

"I hope that same spirit of cooperation will emerge in each committee as we deal with issues that directly affect the quality of life in northern Michigan. With that goal in mind, I will pursue a positive agenda."

The Crawford AuSable School District State of the School Address

by Kent Reynolds,
School Superintendent

Our curriculum is under review and we are developing revisions to insure adherence to those state standards. Unfortunately, progress toward completion of curriculum revision has been slow as building construction projects and the NCA effort have consumed our time and energy.

Staff in the three elementary schools adapted to construction in their buildings during the first semester this year. Each building opened with a new grade level pattern. The middle school staff adjusted to the end of overcrowding. Curriculum development took a back seat.

We must use the time left during this school year to complete adjustment to the dramatic changes that occurred. The strategic planning process must be completed. Curriculum development in science, health, social studies, foreign language, art and physical education must be completed.

It is inconsistent that the state legislature has failed to adopt mandated curriculum standards but they have mandates testing which measure achievement of suggested state curriculum standards.

We believe that the suggested standards are appropriate and the curriculum we are adopting will prepare students to meet those suggested standards. Completing our curriculum work is important so that we can begin the next school year with a curriculum measured by the MEAP and state proficiency tests.

If the MEAP and proficiency tests measure achievement of standards that we believe students should meet, why are the tests so controversial? The state designed the tests to measure how well individual students meet standards.

The state designed the tests to help schools assess how well their curriculum prepares students to meet standards. The tests were not designed to allow comparison of schools. Too many variables exist between school buildings and school districts to make comparison of scores valid.

Variables influencing test results include whether labeled special education students are tested, the reading selection chosen for the test, the size of the school, school spending and district socio-economic levels.

To make the tests the primary standard for state accreditation or to mandate state take over of a district based on test scores ignores those variables, promotes cheating and reduces the real value of the tests. We will continue to use the tests as one tool for assessing our curriculum. We will continue to place a high priority on good test scores as one indication that our curriculum is appropriate.

COMMUNITY COLLABORATION

Our school district is a mirror of our community. We do not exist in a vacuum. Events that impact us have an effect on every agency and organization. Events that affect them, have an impact on us.

The collaboration between the Crawford County Sheriff's Department, Probate Court, Family Independence Agency and Crawford AuSable School District to provide a community liaison officer is a success.

Troubled youth are monitored, a communication link between home, school and court is provided and a program to divert youth from trouble into wholesome activities has been created.

The Grayling Youth Booster Club is a model for organizations dedicated to youth. Their leadership and contributions to youth are legend.

The Junior Achievement program at the middle school and high school is a product of collaboration between the Grayling Regional Chamber of Commerce and the school district. Students have an introduction to the business world with a local flavor.

The Strong Families Safe Children program has provided a school nurse. The community education cultural events series is reported to be unique in the state. It could not exist without strong business partnerships.

D.A.R.E. (Drug Abuse Resistance Education) exists because of a collaborative effort by the Sheriff's Department and school district. Students develop skills to stay away from drugs thanks to the dedication of our deputies. Project Graduation, an overnight lock-in party following graduation provides activities without alcohol due to the efforts of a dedicated group of parents.

The Frederic Parents Group conducts the annual Frederic school fair, a highlight in the school year for students. The Grayling Elementary/AuSable Primary Parents Group is dedicated to playground improvement. All our civic organizations have a strong youth support component. We are fortunate to live in a community so dedicated to its children. We must continue to support collaborative efforts.

STATE DIRECTION

Not only do we not live in a local vacuum, but state and national policies and priorities influence our operation. Proposal A has brought stability to our budget because as one of the lowest spending districts in the state, we have been receiving double the increase in the state foundation grant.

I estimate that it will take another four years of double increases until all districts reach the base foundation grant level. If the formula does not change and the economy remains strong, increases after that time will barely keep up with inflation.

If the economy weakens, we could face deficits. The five-year plan under development must carefully outline our growth for the next five years to insure that vital programs are funded. There will not be funds for program growth after we reach the base foundation grant level.

State school laws currently support local control but legislative directives have been inconsistent causing confusion. First, a state mandated curriculum was directed by the legislature but now we have a state suggested set of curriculum outcomes with state mandated tests based on those suggested outcomes.

School districts may set their own educational priorities, but the governor advocates state take over of districts which do not meet the priorities which the state suggested.

The state made excuses for charter schools with low test scores stating that they were taking the tests for the first time. Public schools were criticized by the governor for low proficiency test scores though public schools were also taking them for the first time. We would like the opportunity to spend a year working on priorities we set locally without having to address the continually changing direction from Lansing.

PERSONNEL

Before closing, I want to recognize our staff. We are fortunate to have a skilled, dedicated group of teachers, administrators and support personnel. This last semester was challenging. Opening school with construction being completed, new grade level configurations at four buildings, a change in starting times and new parking and traffic patterns at several buildings required a coordinated effort by everyone.

Custodians cleaned, repaired and made the buildings ready for instruction. The effort by our custodial crew at the elementary schools was especially noteworthy.

Elementary teachers adapted to libraries under construction and guided students safely around playground construction.

Bus drivers adjusted to the new traffic patterns and schedules. Elementary food service personnel worked out of the old kitchen and then made the transition to the new kitchen over a weekend.

The leadership of our administrators gave us one of the smoothest school openings in memory. Administrators and teachers worked tirelessly to complete the NCA outcomes accreditation first stage planning process in less time than anyone thought possible. We celebrate our people. Thank you for your effort.

SUMMARY

In summary, we have many reasons to celebrate. The new AuSable Primary School, the renovated Grayling and Frederic Elementary Schools and our new athletic field are quality facilities that have brought pride to our community.

We are ready for developments in technology which will shape the next century. We are proud of the growth directed by the five-year plan adopted in June 1992. NCA accreditation is a stamp that advertises to the community and to those considering moving to our community that we support quality education. We recognize the improvement our fourth grade students made on the MEAP this fall. Our employees are our strength and we thank them for their effort.

As we complete our new five-year plan to guide us into the 21st century, we have set our direction. We must improve our high school and provide a facility for the curriculum of the 21st century.

We must continue to protect the annual district technology budget if we are to enable students to develop the skills necessary for work and life in the next century. We must develop strategies to raise high school daily attendance to 95 percent and we do it immediately.

We must develop programs which arm students with the skills they need to make responsible choices for healthy lives. We must develop vocational technical programs to prepare students for the work force of the 21st century. We must develop alternative education programs for elementary and middle school students and for younger high school students designed to address the way these students learn best.

We must continue to follow our adopted strategic plan and we must continue to maintain NCA accreditation. The strategic planning process must be completed. Curriculum development in science, health, social studies, foreign language, art and physical education must be completed.

We must continue to place a high priority on good test scores as one indication that our curriculum is appropriate. We must continue to support community collaborative efforts. Last, we must use the time left during this school year to complete adjustment to the dramatic changes that have occurred.

Success does not happen by accident. Creating a strategic plan and working to implement the plan is critical. Dedicated, skilled personnel make the plan come alive. An involved community supplies the vital support system. Parental support maximizes learning. Working together we will be ready for the 21st century providing "quality education in the heart of the north".

The Bible Speaks

From the Calvary Baptist Church

Creationism

Last fall Pope John Paul II delivered a speech on evolution in French to the Pontifical Academy of Science. The Vatican Information Service quoted the Pope as saying that evolution is "more than a hypothesis." The New York Times and other newspapers carried front page stories on this "new" teaching by the Pope. Even the L'Osservatore Romano, the official publication of the Holy See carried this so-called new position. Now we are told the position of the Pope has not changed at all. He was mistranslated, thereby misinterpreting him as supportive of the evolutionary theory. No human was alive to bear scientific record of the evidence of origins. No scientific tests can be made to prove the method of origins. As God asked Job, (Job 38:4) "Where wast thou when I laid the foundations of the earth? declare, if thou hast understanding."

Man can only have theories and models of origins. Science has no absolute facts or proof of origins. Evolution remains only a human theory, not fact!

The following is the literal record of creation from the Bible: (Genesis 1:1) "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth." (Genesis 1:24-27) "And God said, Let the earth bring forth the living creature after his kind, cattle, and creeping thing, and beast of the earth after his kind; and it was so. (25) And God made the beast of the earth after his kind, and cattle after their kind, and every thing that creepeth upon the earth after his kind; and God saw that it was good. (26) And God said, Let us make man in our image, after our likeness: and let them have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over the cattle, and over all the earth, and over every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth. (27) So God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him; male and female created he them."

How can we believe God created everything from nothing? (Psalms 33:6&9) "By the word of the LORD were the heavens made; and all the host of them by the breath of his mouth." (9) For he spake, and it was done; he commanded, and it stood fast." (Hebrews 11:3) "Through faith we understand that the worlds were framed by the word of God, so that things which are seen were not made of things which do appear."

THE GARDEN CORNER

A service of the Crawford County MSU Extension Office

Salt can damage landscape plants

The same deicing salt that's used to take some of the hazard out of driving or walking in winter can be a hazard itself to landscape plants.

Salt can damage or even kill landscape plants, said Curt Peterson, extension horticulture specialist at Michigan State University.

"Probably everyone who drives in Michigan is familiar with the sight of pine trees along an interstate highway that are brown on the side near the road because of flying salt spray," he observed.

Salty slush pushed off roads and sidewalks can also damage plants by killing twigs and buds or soaking into the soil where the salt burns the roots. If plant roots take up salt from the soil, it can accumulate to toxic levels and kill the whole plant.

For homeowners, protecting landscape plants can begin with careful choice of plants and planting sites.

A study done at MSU some years ago showed that white and red pine are among the most salt-sensitive landscape plants. Others are barberry, dogwood and common privet. Austrian pine and spruce, on the other hand, were more tolerant. Other less sensitive plants included red cedar, horse chestnut, Russian olive, honey locust and black locust.

Peterson advises homeowners to avoid planting trees and shrubs in areas where exposure to salt spray or salty slush or runoff is likely or to plant only ornamentals known to be highly tolerant of salt in the environment. Highly sensitive plants up to 200 feet away from roads with high speed traffic may be damaged by flying salt spray. In residential neighborhoods with slower traffic, a setback of 60 feet from salted roadways and sidewalks may be sufficient.

Another way to reduce the chance of salt damage to landscape plants is to avoid the use of salt around the home. Some sources recommend using fertilizer as a deicer, but excessive fertilizer can also damage plants. Peterson pointed out. Sand or sodium-free deicers are a better choice. If salt is used, use it sparingly and avoid shoveling salt-laden snow or slush onto plants or the soil beneath them.

Plants already in place in the landscape can be protected from airborne salt spray with burlap, canvas or durable plastic screens fastened to sturdy stakes.

To lessen salt damage to plants, wash salt from the foliage if there is a break in the weather. In the spring heavy watering (or rain) after the ground thaws can leach salt out of the root zones of plants growing in well drained areas.

Next time you see a church standing in the snow, its spire raised to the winter sky, think how hard it was to attend church services in your grandfather's day. Then it was a matter of getting up in the cold chill of early morning, hitching up the horse and sled and jingling across the countryside with sharp icicles of wind stinging your cheeks. Yet, few stayed at home because of the weather. Today, it is relatively easy for all of us to get to church. Whether we live in the city or in the country, modern transportation can bring us conveniently to the doors of the church. Yet, we are far more apt to stay home than grandfather was. Grandfather realized there was so much to be gained by making his pilgrimage through the snow. Only sickness could have kept him at home. He knew that few experiences were richer than worshipping in God's house each week. If we stop to think...and if we're honest with ourselves...we'll know it too.

Rec plan provides guide for county

by Eric Gaertner
News Editor

Crawford County has a recreation plan to use as a guide for recreation projects over the next five years.

The county commissioners approved a motion at their Feb. 18 board meeting to adopt the proposed recreation plan as prepared by the Northeast Michigan Council of Governments (NEMCOG) for the years of 1997 through 2002.

The lengthy recreation plan is available for public viewing at the county clerk's office in the Crawford County Courthouse.

The plan is a wish list and guide for future recreation projects and purchases for the future. The recreation plan includes a listing of the possible project cost. Municipalities need recreation plans, such as this one, to apply for grant money for these projects.

The process of developing this plan began in 1995 when commissioners expressed a need for a new recreation plan for the county. The previous recreation plan was adopted in 1989.

Recreation information was gathered by NEMCOG from the townships, the City of Grayling, the Grayling Recreation Authority and the Department of Natural Resources. All county municipalities were asked if they would like to be included and Frederic Township, Lovells Township and the City of Grayling were interested and included in the plan.

The recreation plan also includes an explanation of the reasoning behind each recreation project being in the plan as a possible future development.

Crawford County listed six recreation projects in its capital improvement schedule as possible projects. Five of the six improvements listed involved the county fairgrounds.

The other "wish-list" item is the biggest of the six. It is a proposed Crawford County Recreation Center. According to the plan, the facility would include a swimming pool, whirlpools, basketball courts, indoor running track and weight rooms.

The reason for including this as a possible project was "a county recreation public opinion survey identified this type of facility as the most important for the area."

The maintenance and improvement list for Hanson Hills ran by the Grayling Recreation Authority included 32 items. These items ranged from developing mountain bike trails to replacing tow ropes. Another possible item included was a proposed band shell.

The City of Grayling listed four areas for possible future improvements and general maintenance in the plan. The four project areas are the Grayling City Park, Crawford County and Children's Recreation Center, City Hall Park, and the Kid's Fishing Hole.

The proposed improvements for the city parks and recreation center is to add a picnic area to the locations.

Two of the "wish-list" items mentioned in the Frederic Township portion of the recreation plan are for the township park. These two items are a pavilion and a baseball diamond. Other proposed projects were set to improve the township nature area.

Lovells Township has three possible improvements listed for Douglas Park.

The biggest proposed item is construction of a tennis court/basketball court. This would include curbs and drains for use as a ice-skating rink.

In addition to the county public hearing held Feb. 18, the City of Grayling, Lovells Township and Frederic Township also held public hearings for possible items to include in the recreation plan. The plan is a guide and items can be added if improved.

Warriors raise money for Special Olympics

The Wertz Warriors, a group of 64 snowmobilers and approximately 20 support crew members, made their 16th annual ride across Northern Michigan recently to raise funds for Special Olympics.

The group, started by Vic Wertz a Hall of Famer with the Detroit Tigers, started this year's trek near Tawas and covered 865 miles during the week-long ride.

The group raised $328,000 for Special Olympics with the help of many businesses.

One of the biggest checks presented to the group was from Dingman's Bar. According to Pat Modos, manager of Dingman's Bar, a check for over $20,000 was presented to the Wertz Warriors.

Modos, who rode with the Warriors for the second year in a row, said "the best part of the ride is at Sugar Loaf Resort."

At the resort over 1,000 Special Olympians were on hand for the festivities.

"We gave them a ride on our snowmobiles," Modos said. "To see their smiling faces makes everything worthwhile."

Dingman's Bar uses its annual auction and pig roast -- held the first weekend in August -- to raise the funds donated to Wertz Warriors.

Task force developed to examine track proposal

by Eric Gaertner
News Editor

A task force has been developed by two county residents who want to look into the possibility of bringing a race-track facility to Crawford County.

The purpose of the task force is to work with the promoters of the race-track project, Crawford County and township officials, and the county residents.

John Schneider and Fred Fedak, the two residents who led the petition drive and the community drive to bring the project promoters back, are the organizers and two of the task force members.

Schneider and Fedak attempted to get representation from specific areas to work on the project. Joining the two private residents on the task force are William Carey, an attorney; John Alef, a banker; Kathy Black, a Crawford County commissioner; and Mike Girard, a Frederic Township board member.

According to Schneider, the task force will be meeting sometime this week to discuss the possible location of the race-track facility and other items of concern. The plan is to then meet with the four partners, including lead promoter Phil Parmelee, to discuss issues for the project in Crawford County.

Public hearings with the task force and Parmelee will be scheduled following these two meetings, Schneider said. This will give the public a chance to receive answers to project questions and concerns.

The first meetings will focus on picking a specific site within Crawford County to move forward with the project. The three possible sites being looked at are along County Road 612 near I-75 in Frederic Township, north of the Grayling High School on Old 27 in Frederic Township, and near Fletcher Road in Beaver Creek Township.

The public hearings will provide answers to county residents' questions. Some of the questions which have already arisen in recent board meetings include traffic, noise and wages of the jobs created.

"From the start we have said there will be noise and traffic," Parmelee said. "We will do everything we can to control the noise, but there will be some."

The local infrastructure will be key to handle the increase in traffic. According to Parmelee, funds through the Michigan Jobs Commission are out there for roads to be had.

Promoters have estimated that the race-track facility will create 300 full-time and 2,000 part-time jobs for the community. Schneider said he directed that concern to the promoters.

They said the 300 full-time jobs would be at least at a wage of $7.50 an hour, because they will be working with the Michigan Jobs Commission. The jobs will include clerical, computer-type positions, grounds keeping, maintenance and others.

March 1 date set to meet in Lovells

It has been nearly a month since the Lovells Anti-Crime Association (LACA) was formed in direct response to a spree of breaking and enterings in the Lovells Township area.

The anti-crime group of township residents will conduct its second meeting on Saturday, March 1, at 1 p.m. The meeting which is open to the public will be held at the Lovells Township Hall.

The LACA was formed following a gathering which included 62 Lovells area property owners, Crawford County Sheriff David Lovely and county commissioners Bruce Bretzke and Robert Smock.

The group was set up on Feb. 1 to work on protecting area properties from having these breaking and enterings occur. LACA is looking for the initial members and new members to attend the March 1 meeting to discuss how things have gone so far and to bring up any new ideas.

"Even though the police have apprehended three of the suspected criminals, we know there are more out there and we must not let our guard down," a press release from LACA officials stated. "We need to work together to stop these B&Es and we must protect our properties to the best of our lawful abilities."

School science fair is underway

The 1997 seventh through 12 grade Science and Arts Fair has officially started as entrants have submitted proposals for projects to be judged on March 14 and displayed on the morning of March 15 at the Grayling Middle School Gym and Cafeteria.

The Fair Committee, consisting of Melissa Stone, Daniel Pommell, Larry Austin (GMS instructors), Mike Dean and Chuck Schepke (GHS instructors), Karen Langseth (at large), and R. J. Hannan, director of Community Education, has been meeting to ensure another successful event.

Without revealing some surprises for this year's event, participants entering winning projects will receive something special in addition to the traditional first, second, and third place ribbons. Also, participants will receive certificates of recognition to be placed in their portfolios.

Entry packets detailing rules and judging, were distributed in the middle school and high school shortly after the start of the second semester. All entries will be assigned a project number by the Fair Committee and will appear in the program guide distributed to those persons attending the display on Saturday, March 15.

The annual Science and Art Fair offers the opportunity for students to showcase a project in a specific area, as well as demonstrate extended learning in a particular area or facet of the subject matter. In past years, some very unusual and interesting projects have been demonstrated and displayed for the community.

The organizers hope that this year's turnout will provide some new surprises. The fair will take place on March 15 at the GMS gym and cafeteria between 8 a.m. and noon.

Requests denied for added employees

The Crawford County court system and 911 central dispatch department will not be getting additional employees which were requested due to understaffing problems, at least not at this time.

The funding was not available in the 1997 Crawford County budget for the new hire positions, so the county board of commissioners decided not to honor the request from the county departments at the Feb. 18 board meeting.

The requests were made at the Feb. 4 board meeting to hire a compliance officer/civil clerk and a 911 dispatcher. The commissioners passed a motion at the Feb. 4 meeting to honor the request with first referring the requests to the county treasurer to advise of any available funding for the positions.

Crawford County Treasurer Joe Wakeley reviewed the budget to see where there may be some funds available to the two positions. According to Wakeley, the estimated cost for each position would be $25,000, which includes fringe benefits, for the proposed court employee and $28,000, which also includes fringe benefits, for the proposed new dispatcher.

Wakeley presented the information that there was some money in a couple of areas which could be switched around, but he could not see where there could be enough switched to accommodate the new positions.

There were some "ifs" in the process to locate the needed funds, but Wakeley said he did not provide a yes or no answer because it was the board's decision.

Board Chairman Bruce Bretzke pointed out that the lack of a decision to grant the two new positions does not mean the requests are totally denied. He said this means the requests can not be accommodated right now.

The requested dispatcher position would be an additional employee to handle the 911 calls and other items

Snowmobile task force organized in Frederic

A recent township meeting has sent a proposed snowmobile task force into motion. Although the group has not met yet, the set up of the task force is being finalized by officials.

The idea of having a snowmobile task force came about during the public discussion between Frederic Township residents and area officials on the problems caused by the recent increase in snowmobilers in the Frederic area. The increase over the last few years is connected with the Gaylord-to-Frederic snowmobile trail which was opened.

The public discussion was conducted at the Feb. 11 Frederic Township board meeting. Crawford County Sheriff David Lovely, local Department of Natural Resources officials and the township board members discussed the issue with limited meeting room of private residents.

The concept of a volunteer task force to research the matter in-depth was proposed to come up with a balance for snowmobilers and private land owners in the Frederic area.

A list of 12 residents who will participate in the volunteer task force has been gathered, said Frederic Township Supervisor Brian Hulbert.

According to Hulbert, Frederic resident Doug Slater, who volunteered to head the snowmobile task force, is in the process of gathering information on the subject and will be calling the first meeting in the near future.

Tax guide available for area residents

A free guide to assist Michigan taxpayers with their 1996 returns is available from State Rep. Allen Lowe (R-Grayling).

The 105th District lawmaker said the publication is available at many area post offices and libraries. The district includes Alcona, Antrim, Crawford, Kalkaska, Montmorency, Oscoda and Otsego counties.

"Michigan's tax laws are constantly changing," Lowe said. "The 1996 Michigan Taxpayer's Guide contains concise, practical information that enables residents filing their own returns to stay abreast of the latest policies. I urge everyone to pick up a copy."

The guide contains tax forms and a list of phone numbers for assistance.

Individuals needing booklets or more information can call Lowe's office at (517) 373-0829.

Money matched for officer

Crawford County has joined the effort of a state block grant and the Crawford AuSable Schools to help handle juvenile violence and delinquency in the county.

A $45,000 block grant from the state was received by the county after Crawford County Sheriff David Lovely filed the grant request. According to Lovely, the grant request was made due to the rising juvenile crime and violence in the community and the school system.

The motion to participate in the program was made by the Crawford County Board of Commissioners at their Feb. 18 board meeting. The county will provide funds not to exceed $5,000.

The Crawford AuSable Board of Education also agreed to provide funds up to $5,000 for the program at a school board meeting earlier in February.

The combined effort of the school board and county board will be for the local matching funds needed for the program. The total program cost will run from $55,000 to $58,000, so more funds were needed in addition to the block grant money.

The funds will be used to hire a county law enforcement officer. The officer's job will focus on juvenile activity.

The block grant was issued by the Office of Drug Control Policy.

BITS OF TALK

By Fay Bovee — 348-7017

Mrs. Barbara Carlson of Walled Lake spent several days recently visiting Mrs. Aggie Post and visiting other former Grayling friends, Helen and Norm Feldhauser. Barbara has retired from teaching in Novi.

A phone call from Jack Perry from Florida informed us that he is doing very well following his lung surgery. He will not require any chemo or radiation and his strength is progressing. He was extremely pleased with all of the get-well cards that he received from his friends.

That's one of the differences in small towns; people know one another, remember old friends and share their problems and joys. And it's nice to know that somewhere you may have brightened someone's day with a communication.

Guest speaker at the Kiwanis Club of Grayling on Monday noon, Feb. 17, at the Iron Gate was Heather Curtis, a senior at Grayling High School. Heather spent the last school year in the Netherlands as an exchange student. She stated that it was a wonderful experience and she would like to return in the future. After the shock of her first day there when she knew no one, her family made every effort to make her feel welcome. She quickly learned much of the language, enjoyed the school experiences, and was able to travel extensively throughout the Netherlands and other countries with classmates and her host family.

Simon Jahnichen, exchange student from Berlin, Germany, was the speaker at the brown bag luncheon series being held at the United Methodist Church. He spoke on Thursday noon, Feb. 20, before a very interesting group of people. He spoke of the differences in their school system from ours, the difference in politics and politicians, and the friendship of students. He has traveled a great deal and lived in many places, including the United States, but he also wanted to have the experience of living in a small town which he finds very different from the large city of Berlin. He is enjoying his host family, the Goslings, and the many friends that he is making here.

Speaker for the Thursday, Feb. 27, noon luncheon at the United Methodist Church will be Tanya Pushkova, an instructor from Kirtland Community College who is from Kiev, Ukraine, but who is very familiar with Moscow, Russia.

The Kiwanis Club of Grayling and the Rotary Club of Grayling are still dueling it out with their food for the Community Christian Help Center. The contest ends this coming weekend with the Center being the ultimate winner and the club winner getting the "trophy."

Dennis and Marilyn Palmer are completing their remodeling project on the former Dr. Staley home on the corner of Ogden and Elm Street. We understand Marilyn has a nice new office room and Dennis has a nice new garage. It's a pleasure to see some of the older homes around the community being fixed up.

Other remodeling that we hadn't noticed until recently is at the laundromat and cleaners on the corner of Alger Street and the business loop. The inside has been remodeled, new floor installed and attractive blue shutters on the outside of the building.

For you snowbirds in the south, I'll have to tell you that Saturday, Feb. 22, was probably one of the most beautiful winter days that we have ever seen. After rain on Thursday and a wet snowfall on Friday, Saturday turned out to be a picture perfect day with a blue sky that was hard to imagine. We hope there were cameras out to record the snow and ice glistening on the trees.

We would like to hear from more of our readers, birthdays, anniversaries, out of town guests, special trips, or someone that needs some cards to brighten their day.

Margie and Dave Horton of Davison were guests of Val and Al Johnston from Thursday to Saturday of last week. We hope they enjoyed the snowstorm that we had on Friday as they had to shovel out before being able to leave for home.

New tourism group faces mixed reviews

by Sharon Lulek
Capital News Service

With the creation of Travel Michigan to get more out of state tourists to visit the state, Gov. John Engler has placed tourism economy high on his agenda.

Formerly known as the Michigan Travel Bureau, the agency has already begun work on an intensive marketing drive to get out of state tourists thinking about Michigan vacations, and more importantly, taking those Michigan vacations.

Even though the marketing strategy is still in its infancy, there are differing opinions regarding what Travel Michigan can ultimately accomplish.

Ann Marie Mitchell, marketing director at the Homestead Resort in Leelanau County, said an aggressive push will help to increase tourist numbers more than any one attraction or resort could. Over 75 percent of tourists come from Michigan to the resort, followed by 13 percent from Illinois. The others hail mainly from Ohio and Indiana.

All these states are prime targets for marketing Michigan tourism, said Jim Tobin, director of public affairs at the Michigan Jobs Commission. Travel Michigan is now a part of the Jobs Commission.

One of its first marketing drives will be new commercials to air sometime this fall in major cities in Michigan's border states, he said.

Even though specific areas of the state attract more tourists than others, Travel Michigan is taking a broad scope to increasing tourism. The goal is to get more people to come, regardless of where they end up once in Michigan's borders, he said.

"We need to get people thinking about Michigan in the first place," Tobin said.

While Mitchell believes Travel Michigan will benefit the state's tourism, other experts like Donald Holecek doubt whether the new development will solve all of the state's tourism problems. The director of the Travel, Tourism and Recreation Resource Center at Michigan State University said many state characteristics that influence tourism patterns and aren't easily changed.

One inherent problem, Holecek said, is Michigan's unpredictable weather and overcast winters. Also, Holecek said Michigan has a fairly affluent population, which means people have extra income to travel, often away from Michigan.

In addition, Holecek said driving patterns are influenced by the fact that Michigan is isolated from drive-through traffic. "People come to Michigan because Michigan is their destination, not because they're trying to get somewhere else," he said.

According to MSU studies of state tourism patterns, the state has been experiencing a yearly growth rate of five percent in the number of travelers and seven percent in the amount of money they spend here. That's a normal and healthy growth rate, he said, and Michigan is keeping pace with other states.

At first glance, Michigan ranks as 12th nationwide in terms of traveler expenditures. But this impressive growth rate is diminished when the statistics are adjusted to per capita figures, and Michigan ends up with a lowly 48th ranking.

In other words, Holecek said states with high populations such as Michigan attract more tourists because many of these people are visiting friends and family. The 1995 study showed that's why 45 percent of tourists came to the state. The per capita figures decrease the effects of population and place states on a more equal level regardless of their population.

Holecek said Travel Michigan needs to target markets according to age groups in addition to location. Specifically, marketing geared toward 55- to 70-year-olds should be increased since they are the most rapidly growing traveling group. "Seniors have an above-average amount of disposable income and free time to travel," he said.

In addition, Holecek said it is "absolutely necessary" to bring all tourism organizations and bureaus together to provide better services to tourists — yet another goal of Travel Michigan.

But Tobin said Travel Michigan will make it happen.

More details about its marketing plan will be released later next month, and it will only be a matter of time before more changes are made, he said.

Holecek still remains unconvinced. "I don't know if I'll see it happen in my lifetime."

Ask The Dentist

"If a tooth is knocked out, can it be placed back in the mouth?"

In many cases, a tooth that has been traumatically avulsed (knocked out) can be replanted back in the jaw socket.

If the tooth's root is fractured or broken, the tooth probably can't be saved. However, if the tooth is intact, replantation may work. The quicker the tooth is replaced, the greater the success, so time is of the essence. Most successful replantations of teeth are accomplished within one hour after the injury has occurred.

Proper treatment of the avulsed tooth is also critical for success. Gently rinse the tooth but do not scrape or brush the root surface. If you can place the tooth back into the tooth socket, do so. If this is not possible, place the tooth in a glass of water or milk, or wrap it in a clean cloth so that the tooth doesn't dry out. Then get to your dentist as soon as possible.

Every four to seven days of the replanted tooth can vary greatly from months to years. The tooth should be periodically checked by your dentist.

HOSPICE FACTS

ALL HOSPICES ARE NOT ALIKE

All hospices try to provide comfort care and support to people nearing the end of life. But all hospices do not provide the same level of service.

- Some hospices accept only patients who have a fulltime caregiver at home. Hospice of Michigan admits everyone who needs hospice care, even if they live alone.
- Some hospices cannot provide the full range of comfort care service. Hospice of Michigan provides everything necessary to increase the patient's comfort and quality of life—even complex and costly treatments such as radiation and chemotherapy.
- Some hospices cannot help patients with special needs. Hospice of Michigan has specialists in caring for children, for people with AIDS, for people with Alzheimer's, and those who need high-tech services.

- Some hospices are part of a larger health system or for-profit home-care agency. Hospice of Michigan is an independent, non-profit organization dedicated to providing the best possible end-of-life services.

Hospice of Michigan is the area's original certified hospice, serving Crawford, Roscommon and surrounding counties since 1981. Our employees and volunteers are your friends and neighbors. All funds raised in the community stay in the community to help local families in need.

The third person gets week of recognition

When you make a purchase at the food store, fill your tank with gasoline at the service station, or buy any merchandise by weight or by measurement, you think the transaction is only between you and the vendor. It may be a surprise to know that every such transaction is participated in by a third person even though he/she is not present.

The "third person" is the Weights and Measures Official who checks all weighing and volume measuring devices used in sales made to the public. Errors in either direction, over or under, will cause someone to suffer.

The public and merchants look upon this observer as a friend. Because of this friendship, everyone wholeheartedly joins in celebrating National Weights and Measures Week, March 1 through 7.

SENIOR PERSPECTIVE

A monthly service to our Senior Citizens

The ten commandments of retirement living posted

People always ask how they should approach their retirement. After all, most of us spend virtually our entire adult lives working, and the thought of all this spare time can be a bit daunting. Some people think of retirement as a beginning rather than an ending — a time to explore everything the world has to offer. The right attitude is really the key to enjoying your retirement years. Following are a correspondent's "Ten Commandments" for mature living.

• Thou shalt make plans. Be bold, be daring. Take up a new hobby; try an evening course at a local community college. Get active in your neighborhood ... anything that keeps your body and mind active.

• Thou shalt look at the brighter side. Be optimistic. Remember, aging is a positive life experience.

• Thou shalt travel. There is no time like the present to see new sites or visit family and friends. Many travel companies even offer special programs for mature travelers.

• Thou shalt not whine. It's a time-waster and won't win you any friends. Better to devote your energies to solving problems or scaling new heights.

• Thou shalt write at least one cheerful letter to someone every week. Remember, it takes two minutes out of your day to become a highlight of someone else's day, and sharing your thoughts also makes you feel great.

• Thou shalt laugh often, deeply and loudly. Laughing is not only good for the heart, but it also reminds others that you still have a sense of humor. And if you can't laugh at life, what can you laugh at?

• Thou shalt make a list of 20 things you've always wanted to do and do them one at a time. Too often we put things off due to a lack of time. Consider retirement an invitation to finally make your dreams a reality.

• Thou shalt wear out rather than rust out. Spend your time creating new memories rather than dwelling on the past. Stay active.

• Thou shalt think big thoughts and enjoy small pleasures. Don't restrict yourself. Who says you can't write the "great American novel" if that's what you want to do? And don't forget that you really have time to treat yourself in small ways — take time to smell the roses.

• Thou shalt sign your living will. Don't think of this as a negative. It's the smart thing to do ... for any adult.

Problem: Too many Americans lie awake at night

Most people spend a third of their lives sleeping, but some struggle to get even four hours of slumber.

Sleeplessness is a problem for a significant number of Americans. It can be caused by many things, such as sleeping in an unfamiliar environment, hot weather and illness. Business travelers, vacation travelers and shift workers coping with changes in bedtimes may find themselves tossing and turning frequently.

Short periods of stress can also cause mild forms of insomnia, according to NARD, the National Association Representing Independent Pharmacies.

Diet pills, which are often loaded with caffeine, can keep you from getting to sleep, as can taking daytime naps. In a few cases, leg cramps can interrupt a good night's sleep.

The elderly are often preoccupied with their lack of sleep. The normal 85-year-old spends about one-fifth of the night awake.

Furthermore, chronic nightmares may cause insomnia. Nightmares can occur after bad experiences or as a result of psychological troubles. Nightmares can also occur as side effects of taking or withdrawing from certain medications, such as sedatives.

Getting To Sleep

Experts offer several ways to treat insomnia. First of all, people who have trouble sleeping should go to bed and arise at the same time every day — no staying up late or sleeping in. This is the most crucial aspect of curing insomnia, experts say. Physicians also recommend removing all caffeine from the diet, except, perhaps, the morning coffee. Regular exercise also helps improve sleep patterns.

Stretching may get rid of the problem; if you suffer from leg cramps at night, ask your physician to recommend a stretching exercise to do before going to bed.

Some cases of insomnia can be traced to underlying physical problems and can be treated with medication. For instance, antidepressants almost always help people with depression overcome their sleeplessness. However, barbituates, once commonly used as sleeping pills, may do more harm than good. They are habit-forming, there is no good evidence that they work and they may actually disrupt normal sleep patterns.

While certain sleep aids can be bought over the counter, they do not restore the rapid eye movement (REM) stage of sleep, and are not considered by experts to be very helpful.

Many more efficient prescription sleeping aids have become available in the past few years. Ask your family pharmacist about the ones he or she feels work best.

In memory of

James R. Wakeley
Feb. 27, 1996.

God looked around his garden, and he found an empty place.
He then look down upon the earth, and saw your tired face.
He put his arms around you, and lifted you to rest.
God's garden must be beautiful. He always takes the best.
He knew that you were suffering.
He knew that you were in pain.
He knew that you would never get well on earth again.
He saw that the road was getting rough, and the hills were hard to climb.
So, He closed your weary eyelids, and whispered "Peace be Thine."
It broke our hearts to lose you, but you didn't go alone.
For part of us went with you, the day God took you home.
Sadly missed by wife Sharon; daughter Amy; sons Kevin, Michael and Todd; Grandchildren and family.
We love you.

Survey conducted for employer comments

A survey was recently conducted in the counties of Crawford, Ogemaw, Oscoda and Roscommon in which 495 employers explained their employee training practices.

Some findings include 69 percent provide some form of training, as well as all types and sizes of businesses supply training.

Over half (58 percent) of that training is by direct instruction. Very few employers (5 percent) supply only funding to the employee for school and 37 percent offer a combination of direct instruction and funding.

According to respondents, community colleges supply 18 percent and universities supply 9 percent of the training.

Private consultants supply 30 percent of training and everything from on-the-job training to seminars supplies 39 percent of the training.

Employers made actual comments on the survey. A sample, by county, is as follows:

Crawford - "More than anything else, we need people who do basic math. Too many times people of all age groups cannot figure change" (retailer). "English and verb usage are lacking in the general population. While local schools may teach such, people revert to their own language and carry such to the job world" (personal service provider).

Ogemaw - "Very hard to find someone willing to start out with a minimum wage and grow and work into a good wage through hard work and caring attitude even though there's an unlimited income potential" (manufacturer). "Young people need to realize their skills need to improve before their wages do" (construction).

Oscoda - "Middle aged persons and younger seem to have a poor work ethic. The local school seems to be doing a good job in providing general skills training" (retailer).

Roscommon - "Most workers I have contact with don't know how to think out problems" (construction). "I have many fine employees. The biggest problem is although all employees want pay, not all employees want to work" (retailer).

Roscommon - "Most workers I have contact with don't know how to think out problems" (construction). "Just hard to find people who know what they say they know and honest, clean people" (business service provider). "Personal qualifications - character, self motivation, dependability, honesty, trustworthiness, resourcefulness - are always primary (personal service provider).

MSU alumni awarded French writing honor

Three Michigan State University English alumni have been named three of the best American authors, from a French perspective.

Richard Ford, Thomas McGuane and Jim Harrison were among the authors selected by the French Magazine, L'Express, as three of the 25 most noted authors in American literature. The magazine covered the entire country, illustrating the famous writers in the places from where their works take inspiration.

The MSU alumni were listed among such distinguished American authors as Steven King, Ray Bradbury, J.D. Salinger and Toni Morrison.

Jim Harrison, born in Grayling, received his bachelor's degree from MSU in 1960 and his master's in 1964. He is the author of several poems, stories, articles and screenplays. His highly praised novel, Dalva, was published in 1988. Harrison is also author of the novella Legends of the Fall, which became a major motion picture.

L'Express described Richard Ford as the most representative writer of the '80s. Ford, originally from Mississippi, graduated from MSU in 1966. He is the author of five novels and a book of short stories. Ford is probably best known for his highly praised novel The Sportsman, published in 1986. His novel, Independence Day, the continuation of The Sportsman, earned him the 1966 Pulitzer Prize in Fiction.

Thomas McGuane was born in Wyandotte and graduated from MSU in 1962. He is the author of several novels, screenplays and short stories. His 1971 novel The Bushwacked Piano, earned a Richard and Hinda Rosenthal Foundation Award from the American Academy. McGuane turned his 1971 novel Ninety-two in the Shade into a screenplay for United Artists, starring Peter Fonda and Margot Kidder, to whom he was briefly married.

The works of these three alumni have made significant contributions to American literature. James McClintock, professor of English at MSU, is currently writing a book about these authors. McClintock feels these authors shared the common topics of the West, place, women and minorities in their works.

Farming resources week is planned

From preserving historic barns to growing herbs for profit — that's the range of topics planned for Agriculture and Natural Resources (ANR) Week, March 1-9, at Michigan State University.

Approximately 80 educational programs, meetings and other activities will take place during the eight-day event, said Sandi Bauer, ANR Week program coordinator.

Programs focusing on the environment will include sessions on improving wildlife diversity, converting landfills into parks, toxic chemicals in the Great Lakes and land use in Michigan.

Outdoors-oriented programs will include foraging for wild foods, pheasant-habitat management, home-garden composting, quiet water sports, growing and selling herbs, and community playground designs that are kid compatible.

Agricultural programs will focus on animal manure management, community organic-food production, beekeeping, heritage livestock and narrow-row crop production.

The Michigan FFA Organization's annual convention, expected to attract about 1,000 high school members, will run from Monday through Wednesday afternoon.

ANR Week will also feature a daylong discussion of Michigan's tourism outlook, a session on community-based tourism and a daylong session on managing home-based businesses.

Other programs include a daylong program on human nutrition, a session on managing bed and breakfast operations, and programs on broodmare management and horse training.

ANR Week details are listed in a free guidebook available through the Crawford County MSU Extension Office located in the basement of the Crawford County Courthouse or call 517-348-2844 ext. 264.

HEALTHLINE

Hypothermia can be dangerous

State employees can now tap into the Internet to help them decide whether the early-retirement option is an offer they can't refuse.

The state Department of Management and Budget (DMB) and state employees retirement office have produced an Internet web site to give employees direct help in making the life-changing retirement decision.

Early retirement is being offered to nearly 7,000 state employees who are at least 55-years old and have worked in state jobs for at least 15 years or at least 50 with 25 years of employment.

Matt Beha, communications representative for the state employees retirement office, said the web site can reach people with a vast amount of information in an easily readable format.

"We are trying to get the information out in as many forms as possible," he said. "There is so much information, we felt offering it through the Internet will help us to save a tree or two."

The web site includes the text from a 200-page information booklet, which explains all aspects of early retirement, a map to the state retirement office, a listing of early retirement seminars and a program to calculate an individual's pension benefits.

Beha sees the Internet as a growing information point for state government offices.

"A lot more state agencies are using the Internet to inform people on what is happening in state government," he said.

Users of the site are finding it helpful. The director of the state office of human resources, Jerry Brazil, said many in his department face the early-retirement option and are looking to the site for guidance.

"We have sent information about the website to many of our employees," he said. "I think it will be useful to those who are in need of such a service."

Brazil, who accessed the web site for his own personal use, said the computer aid goes one step beyond the information they have been sent.

Some of the options explained on the Internet site include survivor benefits and information on equating options so early-out retirees receive maximum benefits until Social Security kicks in.

Although the site is set up in simple form, Brazil said those unfamiliar with computers may have some difficulty.

"You do have to be Internet friendly and understand spreadsheets in order to get a full understanding of the site."

Although computers are becoming more common in terms of information, the departments are offering other options for eligible state employees, said DMB Press Secretary Maureen M. Nulty.

Along with the Internet, the same program can be accessed using a touch-tone phone. State employees in the Lansing area can call 241-8027 and those across Michigan can call 1-800-668-8027.

The phone numbers are linked to a program that will provide an estimate based on the numbers entered through a touch tone phone.

The DMB estimates nearly half of the 7,000 eligible state employees will take the early-out option, McNulty said.

The department will hold seminars across the state to further educate eligible retirees on the benefits of the program.

The following suggestions from the American Heart Association and the CDC should help protect people of all ages from this dangerous condition:

- Don't drink alcoholic beverages before going out in the cold, or while out in the cold.
- Wear several layers of clothing for insulation.
- Wear a hat or scarf since the head loses 30 percent of the body heat.

The Easter bunny will soon be hopping our way and RSVP has the perfect way to give him a helping hand. Our volunteers are going to be busy the next two weeks making all kinds of confectionery delights for a big Easter candy sale. If any of you remember what Grandma's homemade tudge was like, you will want to visit our sale.

The proceeds from the sale will help to defray the cost of volunteer mileage reimbursement. RSVP volunteers are an essential aspect of any community. They are responsible for a myriad of tasks that not a lot of people would be willing to do, but the volunteers' hearts are so wonderful no job is too trivial or mundane for them to lend a helping hand.

The sale will take place on March 7 at the Crawford County Commission on Aging Senior Center on Lawndale from 1 to 4 p.m. Please help us and show our communities' support of this program and its volunteers. You won't be sorry because while you are showing them how much you appreciate their devotion to your community, you will get to enjoy some of the most wonderful goodies you have ever tasted at reasonable prices. Thank you. See you then.

State Finals

Grayling skiers finish as top five team in state B-C-D division

by Eric Gaertner
News Editor

When the ski season started a while back, a number of Class B-C-D ski teams were battling to reach the state finals in Harbor Springs.

The Grayling boys' team accomplished this feat, and with the season all said and done, there were only four teams better than the Viking boys.

The guys from Grayling skied the slalom and giant slalom courses on a fast track at Nub's Nob on Monday, Feb. 24. The Michigan High School Athletic Association 1997 State B-C-D Ski Championships provided some fast times and exciting action.

None could have been more excited than Grayling's coach Mike Wieland, because the team had some trouble in the slalom but still came away with a top five state finish.

The boys' ski team is the first ski team, boys or girls, to qualify for the state team finals since 1983 and 1984. Those years the girls' team finished fifth in the all-classes meet.

Grayling finished with 147.5 points. East Grand Rapids took home the B-C-D state trophy, finishing with 93.5 points. Petoskey finished second with 107.5 points.

"It is fun to be able to get to this meet," Wieland said of skiing against the top competition the state has to offer.

The coach also mentioned that the tough conference the Vikings competed in this year helped them in the regional and state meets. Grayling won the Manistee regional to advance to the state finals.

"Out of the Great Northern Conference teams, three squads were at the state finals," Wieland said. "We ski against these tough teams all year round."

The Viking boys finished in fourth place in the giant slalom event. The Grayling skiers, 72.5 points, had some good runs and were only five-and-a-half points behind the eventual state champions, East Grand Rapids, at this point.

Although a majority of the six-man Grayling boys' team is young and inexperienced, the two seniors led the way in the giant slalom event.

Travis Hopp, who has been the Vikings' number one skier this season, finished 14th with times of 25.84 and 26.85. Jason Steele, another ski member with experience, ended up just behind in 15th place. Steele had runs of 25.94 and 26.91.

The rest of the Grayling squad is made up of three sophomores and one freshman. The young racers have been counted on every meet this season, since six competitors race each event and the top four scores are used for the team score.

Two of the sophomores, Eric

Thompson and Colin Hunter, were the other two scores used in this event by Grayling. Thompson ended up 21st and Hunter tied for 22nd. Josh Mueller and Jason Boreo also raced the giant slalom course.

The Vikings had some problems in the slalom event, finishing fifth in that race. According to Wieland, the state meet was the exact opposite of how most of the meets went this season for Grayling.

"Usually we dig ourselves a hole in the giant slalom and have to climb out of it in the slalom," Wieland said. "This time we started out with a good showing in the giant slalom and had some problems in the slalom."

Some early falls in the slalom put a lot of pressure on the rest of the team. The Vikings were not the only team to have trouble in the slalom, as there were a lot of falls which led to some safe skiing by the later competitors.

Hunter skied the slalom course extremely well, finishing 10th out of the competitors with teams in the state meet which is where the scores come from. He was 16th overall, when taking into account the individuals at the state meet.

Thompson also had a good showing, ending up in 13th position. Hopp and Mueller finished 25th and 27th, respectively. Steele and Boreo were disqualified due to falls.

"You get to the point where the bus ride home gets too long," Wieland said, as he reflected on the state finals. "If the first two don't fall, then I think we could've finished third. But that is what makes it the state finals."

In other scheduled ski action, the Burger King Ski Meet set to run at Hanson Hills was canceled on Wednesday, Feb. 19. Officials had to cancel the only scheduled Grayling home meet because of the poor snow conditions.

According to Wieland, the 48 degree temperatures softened the deep base and created a race surface that coaches agreed could be unsafe. All of the teams who were entered had skiers who had qualified for state and were very hesitant to risk injury.

State regulations keep teams from racing after the state meet, so the team will have to look forward to hosting the 1998 home meet.

Vikings recognized in state rankings prior to state meet

The Grayling boys' team got some recognition from the people who rank the top 10 ski teams in the Class A and Class B-C-D divisions.

Prior to Monday's state meet, Coach Mike Wieland learned that his Viking boys' squad were ranked third by the state coaches poll. According to Wieland, Grayling winning the Manistee regional finally got the team noticed by the Michigan High School Coaches Association pollsters.

"It is nice to have the team receive some state recognition, but third does put pressure on them to ski better at the state meet," Wieland said prior to the state finals on Monday, Feb. 24. "We will go out and ski the best we can and if we stand up, we will be in there to compete with the rest of the teams."

Wieland also took time to reflect on the two seniors he will be losing from this year's varsity squad. Travis Hopp and Jason Steele have been the two senior leaders on a young team.

"They have been an important part of our program for the last four years as varsity racers," Wieland said.

Grayling girl skis to 24th place

"Katie (Olson) finished first on the Grayling girls' team in 15 of our 20 races this year," coach Mike Wieland said prior to the state ski finals. "We hope she skies as well in the state finals."

Katie Olson did ski pretty well at the big meet, especially considering she is only a sophomore. Olson qualified for and competed in the girls' giant slalom event at the B-C-D State Ski Championships at Nub's Nob on Monday, Feb. 24.

She was the lone member of the Viking girls to qualify for the state meet. Olson qualified at the regional meet, where the girls' team was one place short of qualifying as a team for the state finals.

The sophomore finished in 24th place out of the many racers who competed in the event. Olson had times of 28.08 and 29.73 in her two giant slalom runs.

"That wasn't her best performance, but she performed well against the best competition," Wieland said.

GRAYLING POWER — Katie Olson, a Grayling sophomore, finishes her giant slalom race. She qualified for the state meet after being one of the top finishers in the regionals.

THROUGH THE SHADOWS — Jason Steele, a senior, competed in his last meet — the State Finals — as a Grayling Viking. Steele cuts through the shadows cast by a bright ski by making a sharp turn in the giant slalom event.

Varsity team focuses on pre-district improvement

by Craig Hofman
Sports Writer

The Grayling High School varsity basketball Vikings are preparing for the districts coming up in March, but are doing so by continuing to play better.

The Vikings went one and one on the week, but in both games they showed that they are improving.

The Vikings visited Rogers City on Tuesday, Feb. 18. The Vikings lost the game 73-61, but according to coach Rich Moffit they played well for the first half of play.

The Vikings struggled with turnovers in the second half which allowed the Hurons to come away with the victory.

"Our decision making in the second half caused a lot of turnovers," said Moffit.

The Vikings were led in scoring by Nate Hinkle with 18 points. Matt LaForest added 13 and Nate Beckwith, a recent junior varsity player pulled up, contributed with 10 points.

The Vikings hosted the Whittemore-Prescott Cardinals on Friday, Feb. 21, and came out confident and aggressive. Senior David Sabin set the stage early with some real hustle plays that gave the Vikings momentum.

"We dedicated this game to our seniors because it was their last home game," said Moffit.

The Vikings started out with some great offensive fire power against a Cardinal team that was playing strong defense in the first quarter.

The main difference in the first quarter was that the Vikings outrebounded the Cardinals 10-3 and committed only five turnovers in a running offensive style.

The Vikings sprinted to a 26-9 lead.

The Vikings got a pick up offensively in the first quarter when coach Moffit put in what you could consider the second line. Moffit used a five man platoon system.

The first team was Brad Larm, Sam Modica, Ben Haskle, Travis Parkinson and Dave Sabin. The second team consisted of Eli Tobin, Matt LaForest, Brad Ritter, Nate Hinkle and Nate Beckwith. Gordon Elsner, Mike Harland and Rob Dent were the reserves who would play the entire fourth quarter.

The second quarter continued to be an offensive and defensive show for the Vikings. The Vikings did not dominate on the boards and had more turnovers in the second quarter, but the Vikings continued to pull away from the Cardinals.

The Viking's first half offense was led by Matt LaForest who scored 15 of his game high 22. Brad Larm also contributed 12 of his 17 points. The Vikings opened up a 49-26 lead.

The Vikings came out in the third quarter determined to extend their lead. They did so against a Cardinal defense that played hard, but got into foul trouble and helped the Vikings out by sending them to the line 20 times in the third quarter and 51 times throughout the game. The Vikings hit 29 of those free throws.

The Vikings continued to rebound and take care of the ball.

The Vikings played hard in the fourth quarter and with three players, Elsner, Harland and Dent who do not have a lot of game experience played hard and fought all quarter long.

Mike Harland led the Vikings in the fourth quarter with five points and Gordon Elsner added four points and one big three-point shot. Rob Dent contributed defensively and scored on a free throw.

The Vikings came away with a 87-54 victory.

The Vikings were led in scoring by Matt LaForest with 22 followed by Brad Larm with 17 points. Nate Beckwith added 10 points.

The Vikings were led in rebounding by Brad Ritter with 8 and Matt LaForest added 7.

Eli Tobin led the Vikings with 8 assists and Travis Parkinson had 5. Matt LaForest added 5 assists.

"We were very pleased with the team's intensity at both ends of the court," said Moffit.

The Vikings travel to Elk Rapids on Friday, Feb. 28,

The Vikings play the winner of the Gaylord/Cheboygan game in District at Gaylord High School. The game starts at 8:15 p.m. on March 5.

State finals will feature Grayling's 'Fab Five'

by Eric Gaertner
News Editor

Five Grayling wrestlers kept their seasons alive and have reached the pinnacle meet in the sport.

The "Fab Five" — Eddie Davis (125), Dave Shepherd (130), Ben Malonen (135), Jason Hall (140) and Josh Taylor (145) — all placed in the top four positions at the regional meet.

The five grapplers who have led the Viking squad this season will be striving to place at the Individual Division III State Finals.

The five wrestlers from Grayling will have an extra week to prepare for the huge meet scheduled for March 7-8 at Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo.

There will be 16 grapplers in each weight class wrestling for the first through eighth-place medals at the state competition.

Seven Vikings wrestled at the regional meet in Big Rapids on Saturday, Feb. 22. They qualified for the regionals by placing in the top four positions at the district meet.

Davis and Malonen led the state qualifiers by becoming regional champions. Davis defeated a state placer from Tawas, and then defeated B.J. Cline from Shepherd in overtime in the championship match.

"Eddie wrestled very smart and used his technique," coach Don Ferguson said. "He also had worked real hard to be in the best physical shape."

Malonen added a regional championship to his district championship he earned a couple of weeks ago. Malonen got some revenge in one match, defeating a Benzie Central opponent he lost to earlier in the team districts. He finished off the championship round by pinning his Alma opponent in 1:07.

"Ben was a powerhouse in his weight class," Ferguson said. "He wrestled very strong and aggressive."

According to Ferguson, Hall was on a mission to get to the state finals and he did it.

Hall lost a tough match to the eventual regional champion, 5-3, but came back with three wins to qualify for the state meet.

"He wrestled very focused and aggressive," Ferguson said. "He works real hard to be in good physical condition."

Shepherd wrestled very tough on the day, winning two and losing two matches. The victories were enough to qualify him for the state finals.

"Dave is a junior and has great wrestling potential," Ferguson said. "He is very skillful and has great technique."

Taylor competed in the toughest weight class at the regional meet. The 145-pound weight class featured two returning state placers. Taylor was able to win two matches against two losses to advance.

"The regional meet was very tough for him, but he stayed very focused and turned on his determination," Ferguson said. "He is a wrestler who works real hard to be the very best he can be."

The two other Vikings who competed at the regional meet were freshman Josh Niederer and senior Joe Mederious.

Niederer lost his first two matches, but showed great ability to reach regionals as a freshman. "He has got a promising wrestling future," Ferguson said.

Mederious went 1-2 on the day, which left him short of qualifying. "Joe is a senior who really helped out the team this year," Ferguson said.

The long-time head coach was pleased with the effort of all of his regional wrestlers.

"The boys all worked very hard all week to prepare for the regionals," Ferguson said. "They all wrestled with a lot of pride and that certainly makes me a very proud coach."

Now, the "Fab Five" will put everything else aside and go to work on preparing for the state finals, Ferguson said of the upcoming week.

Grayling tries underdog role, but falls at regional meet

The individual wrestlers for Grayling are the only ones continuing this season, as the team effort for the Vikings came to a halt in the Upper Peninsula on Wednesday, Feb. 19.

Grayling came out on the short end of a 42-21 score, losing to Gladwin in the Division III team regionals at Gladstone. Grayling had advanced to the regional meet by winning the Benzie Central district

Gladwin defeated Gladstone in the regional final, 47-20, to advance to the state meet.

The Grayling wrestlers went in as the underdog against Gladwin who was ranked seventh in the state. Gladstone also was ranked in the top 10 in the state.

The Vikings won six of the matches against Gladwin, but could not get the pins where they were needed. The six points a wrestler gets for a pin can make a big difference in the final team score.

The Grayling squad got off to a tough start, losing the first two matches. Matt Eyon (103) lost by decision.

Josh Niederer (112) lost in overtime in his match. According to Ferguson, the overtime match was decided on a controversial call.

Grayling then got on a streak of winning matches. Dana Beckwith (119) got the Vikings on the scoreboard, winning his match by a major decision.

Eddie Davis, Ben Malonen, Dave Shepherd, Jason Hall and Josh Taylor all won their matches by decision. The three points earned by Taylor for his 145-pound win was the last points Grayling scored in the match.

The heavier weight classes were dominated by Gladstone. Gladstone won five of the last six matches by pin.

Green team compiles a 9-1 season mark

The Grayling eighth grade Green team finished the basketball season with a 9-1 record. The team was coached by Bruce Burkett, Bob Gorski, and Duane VanDresse.

The second half of the season saw the Vikings win the Houghton Lake Invitational by defeating Roscommon 55-13. Brad Gorski and Ryan Mahaffey scored 12 points each, followed by Kyle Langseth's 10 points.

Next they defeated Houghton Lake 44-36 with Justin Neuberger scoring 15 points; Kyle Langseth, 8 points; Levi Burkett, 7 points; and Brad Gorski, 4 points and 10 assists.

Earlier the Vikings defeated Houghton Lake for the regular season championship 37-32. Brad Gorski led the team with 12 points, followed by Justin Neuberger's 9 points and Kyle Langseth's 8 points.

Two days later, the team traveled to Kalkaska and came back with a 55-17 victory. Brad Gorski led the team with 16 points. Kyle Langseth had 12 points and Josh Petrie finished with 7 points. Levi Burkett and Ryan Mahaffey added 5 points each.

The season finale saw the Vikings travel to Whittemore-Prentiss and suffer their only defeat by a 57-54 score. In an exciting action-packed game, Whittemore's margin of victory was from the foul line, as they made 20-of-27 free throws to the Vikings' 8-of-14 free throws. The Vikings outscored them from the floor 23 field goals to 17.

Brad Gorski led the team with 14 points, followed by Justin Manier and Justin Neuberger with 10 points each. Josh Petrie had 13 rebounds and 6 points.

Tri-captains for the year were Levi Burkett, Brad Gorski and Justin Neuberger.

This season's final statistics showed balanced scoring which equates to the team philosophy. Brad Gorski finished with 11 points per game, 8 assists and 5 rebounds. Kyle Langseth had 9 points per game and 5 rebounds. Justin Neuberger ended up with a 9-point average and 4 rebounds. Levi Burkett averaged 4 points and 4 rebounds per game. Josh Petrie had 4 points and 6 rebounds, and Ryan Mahaffey averaged 5 points per game. Chris Youngblood and Mike D'Amour averaged 3 points per game.

Other members of the team who made big contributions toward the team concept were John McNamara, Anthony Jurkovich, Jeremiah Haskin, Mike Pratt, Nate Ross and Chuck Silk.

Seventh grade Green team ends successful season

by Craig Hoffman
Sports Writer

The seventh grade Green team from Grayling Middle School finished up a successful season.

The Vikings finished their season in the finals of the Houghton Lake tournament. The Vikings were defeated by Harrison.

"We played really hard, but could not match Harrison's size and shooting," said coach Doug Pummell.

The Vikings finished up the season with a record of 6-3. The Vikings beat the local rivals — Kalkaska, Roscommon and Houghton Lake — twice during the year. The Vikings were defeated by Gaylord twice and Harrison once.

"It was a tough season to get in a rhythm. With snow days and winter break, as well as scheduling conflicts, we seemed to lose our momentum now and again," said Pummell.

Pummell stressed that the players worked hard and learned a lot about the game.

"They really improved their defensive skills and ball-handling ability. This was evident when they held their opponents scoreless in three different quarters during the season," said Pummell.

The top scorers for the Vikings were Nick D'Amour, Ricky Riggs and Brandon Gorr.

Top rebounders were Riggs, Marvin Forbes and Ryan Stahl.

Top defenders were Chet Wheeler, Matt Kersey, Mike Hale and D'Amour. Ryan Mirate, Scott Bearss, Justin Schreiber, Craig Enlow, Randy Ford, Ben Sheldon, Nick Hurd, Jim Thompson, Juell Joseph and T. J. Johnson also were major contributors to the success of the team.

JV Vikings let one get away

by Craig Hofman
Sports Writer

The Grayling High School junior varsity team has had a very successful season, but let a game slip away on Friday, Feb. 21, against Whittemore-Preseott. The Vikings were defeated by the Cardinals 58-55.

The Vikings have had to deal with a lot of changes in the last couple of weeks with Eli Tobin and Nathan Beck with going up to the varsity team.

The Vikings seem to be adjusting fine, but are struggling offensively at times.

This offensive letdown is what gave the Cardinals the victory.

The Vikings came out in the first quarter and played good defense, but struggled offensively and found themselves down 13-12 at the end of the quarter. The Vikings did a good job on the boards by outrebounding the Cardinals 10-6.

The Vikings and Cardinals went back and forth in the second quarter.

Freshmen and recently pulled up player Adam Knapp had a strong first half performance with seven points and some strong rebounds.

The Vikings were hurt in the first half by turning the ball over 15 times.

During one stretch in the second quarter the Vikings forced four straight turnovers by the Cardinals, but could not convert on their fast breaks.

The Vikings grabbed the lead before halftime and led the Cardinals 25-23.

The Vikings came out in the third quarter and played more aggressively on offense and converted on their fast breaks to open up a 42-37 lead.

The Vikings only had four turnovers, but the Cardinals were able to capitalize on these and stay close.

The fourth quarter was the Viking's downfall.

The first four minutes were an offensive drought for the Vikings. Their only points coming from two free throws by Adam Knapp.

The Vikings put up a valiant fight and were down 58-55 with time running out, but a three point shot from Jeremy Jones and one from Travis Huber were off the mark and the Vikings were defeated.

The Vikings were led in scoring by Jeremy Jones with 17 points and a nice all around game. Adam Knapp came up with a strong game, scoring 13 points and had several rebounds. Travis Huber added eight points and had a strong effort at the point guard position. Jeremy Millikin added nine points.

The Vikings will play on Friday, Feb. 28, at Elk Rapids and will visit Gaylord on Saturday, March 1, to play a make up game cancelled earlier due to weather.

BUSINESS:

1. Dean Goss, Crawford County Sheriff's Dept., was recently appointed as Grayling Township's liaison officer by Sheriff Lovely. He was present to explain various areas of assistance: traffic control, roads, complaints, neighborhood watch programs, etc.

Goss also requested, on behalf of the Fire Dept., that they be notified when new subdivisions or businesses are created to allow for Fire Dept. emergency planning.

2. Attorney, David Delaney, representing Tom & Sharon Hall, Lake Margrethe residents, were present to discuss recent and ongoing court cases regarding public road rights-of-way that end at the water's edge. Delaney asked the Board's stand on abandonment of public road ends in general? The Halls are plaintiffs in a case involving Northerly Blvd. off N. Portage Avenue at Lake Margrethe.

The consensus of the Board was that a resolution be drafted re-affirming Grayling Township's opinion that public road ends under the jurisdiction of Grayling Township remain open to the public.

3. Motion by Ashton, supported by O'Mara, to recess meeting and re-convene PUBLIC HEARING on Clearwater Trail Special Assessment District that was tabled December 1996. All Ayes, motion carried.

Supervisor reviewed that the public hearing had been tabled to allow property owners on Clearwater Trail to study alternatives to maintenance proposal of December which was not well received by residents because of a proposed cost of $3600.00 per year.

David Malm, selected coordinator of maintenance at December meeting, offered a proposal worked out over the last sixty days with eight of ten property owners involved. Two owners were unavailable for comment.

The proposal is $875.00 per year for snowplowing using Special Assessment District as means of collection. Grading and gravel would be handled separately and privately by the property owners as a group. The snowplowing cost would be $87.50 per property owner per year over five years unless additional residences are added, in which case the roll would be adjusted.

The bid for snowplowing is offered by Gary Fox, Clearwater Trail resident.

Floyd & Shirley Moore, Howard & Jarvis and David Malm spoke in favor of the project. No one spoke in opposition to the revised proposal.

PET CARE TIPS

The ethylene glycol in antifreeze tastes sweet, but it is highly toxic, warns the Animal Protection Institute. A tiny amount can kill a family pet — or a child.

Use a non-toxic antifreeze, advises the Animal Protection Institute. While just a few ounces of regular antifreeze will kill a small dog and less than a tablespoon will kill a cat, now available is an antifreeze that contains a safer chemical, propylene glycol.

Writing, drawing contest set for K-3 students

CMU Public Television and Reading Rainbow, the Emmy award-winning PBS children's series, announce the Third Annual "Young Writers and Illustrators Awards" Contest. The national contest, which attracted more than 60,000 national entries last year from students in grades K-3, is designed to encourage children to write and illustrate their own stories.

"This grass-roots contest inspires young authors and artists to use their imagination and to think and explore the world around them," said LeVar Burton, host of the show. "It's another way Reading Rainbow introduces children to the joys of literature."

For CMU Public Television viewers, the Third Annual "Young Writers and Illustrators Awards" Contest will be held locally from February-March 15. Official entry forms are required and can be obtained by writing to Reading Rainbow Contest, CMU Public Television, Mt. Pleasant, MI 48859. The deadline for entries to this station is March 15.

Winning entries from the local contest will be submitted to Reading Rainbow for the national competition. Each entrant will receive a certificate of recognition signed by series host LeVar Burton.

To enter, children in grades K-3 should submit a story (50-150 words for grades K-1, 100-250 words for grades 2-3) and no less than five original illustrations related to the story. Stories can be real, fantasies, science-related, or tied to Reading Rainbow's new "math-based literacy" theme, encouraging the use of everyday math within the story. Entries will be judged and prizes awarded to selected winners in each grade level.

More adults with disabilities in Michigan find employment

More adults with disabilities in Michigan are finding jobs than ever before — and most of those who do find jobs keep their jobs, the Michigan Jobs Commission said Jan. 17.

"Business and industry in our state hired 6,782 workers with disabilities during this past fiscal year," announced Doug Rothwell, chief executive officer and department director of the Jobs Commission. "This marks the fifth consecutive year that Michigan has seen an increase in numbers hired."

Jobs Commission figures show that the number of persons with disabilities entering the job market has steadily climbed each year since FY 1992, when 5,300 workers with disabilities became employed.

Rothwell also said a recent survey conducted by the Jobs Commission has found that 80 percent of the adults with disabilities who were hired during FY 1994 are still working.

"Michigan's sound economic health, coupled with the effective employment services provided to adults with disabilities by our Rehabilitation Services program, contributes to this positive picture," Gov. John Engler said. "Persons with disabilities want to work, and Michigan employers know it makes good business sense to add them to their workforce."

The Jobs Commission operates 35 Rehabilitation Services offices throughout the state, where adults with disabilities can receive assistance in preparing for and finding a job.

The Northern Michigan District Office serves 21 counties in northern Michigan. The counselor serving Crawford County, Judy King, can be reached at (616) 922-5260 (collect).

Can hospitals still afford charity care

The year is 1752, the place a rented home in Philadelphia, newly converted into a makeshift, 20-bed hospital.

Pennsylvania Hospital, the first civilian hospital in the continental United States, is about to open its doors. The mission of this pioneering hospital is to treat the city's ill and poor — those who have nowhere else to turn for medical care.

On staff are three part-time physicians who have agreed to tend to the hospital's patients for several years without charge. They have little beyond their five senses to help them diagnose their patients. The stethoscope has yet to be invented. Even the thermometer is not in use.

These are the early beginnings of charitable tradition among American hospitals that has never wavered — a tradition of providing free medical care for those who cannot afford the cost of their treatment.

In addition to admitting paying patients, virtually all of this country's hospitals — including for-profit and not-for-profit hospitals alike — have a long history of treating those who cannot pay for their care. Day after day, in each of this country's 6,000 hospitals, someone is being admitted who can't pay for his treatment.

As might be expected, the cost of this care is considerable. In 1994, the most recent year for which data is available, the expense of this free treatment plus bad debt cost American hospitals a record $16.8 billion. The need for this free care will only increase in coming years. Among the reasons why:

- The number of Americans without any health insurance is predicted to climb from roughly 40 million today to 45.6 million by the year 2000, according to a report from the American Hospital Association. Fueling this increase is a national shift away from full-time employment in many industries toward part-time and temporary employment. And often these part-time and temporary positions provide either little or no health insurance.

- The number of underinsured — those patients with limited health coverage who often have trouble paying their medical bills — is expected to double over the next 10 years.

- The baby boom generation is moving away from the relatively healthy 30s and 40s to a more physically vulnerable time of life — the 50s and 60s. These aging baby boomers — some of whom have no health insurance — will need more costly care.

Just as the need for free medical care is on the rise, the ability of the nation's hospitals to provide that care is increasingly threatened. In today's increasingly competitive marketplace, hospitals are being pressured to reduce expenses. The dilemma is that just when this country needs more free care, market forces are making it more difficult than ever before to provide that care. But this isn't merely a problem for the hospital industry to solve — it's a policy problem that ought to be addressed by the whole society.

Cellular One hires new general manager

Clare R. Colwell of Gaylord has joined Cellular One as its new general manager, announced Robert F. Broz, president. Colwell will be responsible for managing the company's northeast Michigan and eastern Upper Peninsula wireless operations, including sales, marketing, customer service, distribution and product development.

Cellular One is a locally owned and operated business providing cellular service to northeast Michigan and the eastern Upper Peninsula. Cellular One has sales and service centers in Grayling, Alpena, Cheboygan, Sault Ste. Marie, St. Ignace and Escanaba and agents throughout the region.

"The telecommunications industry is growing at a phenomenal rate and we believe that Clare brings with him the background and management expertise that is so essential in participating in that growth," Broz said.

"We feel Clare will be a major asset in developing the new opportunities that are occurring in the communications field today as well as to continue to expand and improve the products and services currently available to our customers," he continued.

Colwell was formerly employed in Gaylord with First National Bank of Gaylord as their Executive Vice President. Currently, he serves as a director of the First National Bank of Gaylord, the Gaylord/Otsego Chamber of Commerce and the University of Michigan Club of Gaylord. He acts as a consultant for the Junior Achievement program and is active in the Gaylord Rotary Club and Otsego County Hockey Association.

Colwell and his wife, Barbara, have three children and live in Gaylord.

Michigan committed to revitalizing brownfield sites

Revitalization of Michigan's towns and cities is critically important to the Department of Environmental Quality (DEQ).

The DEQ has met this challenge by developing solutions to historical contamination in cities that will protect human health and natural resources while offering incentives for redevelopment, including cost-effective cleanup options. New ideas and innovative packaging of available state resources have created an atmosphere that helps existing businesses flourish and expand, and encourages new businesses to locate in the state.

The word "brownfield" is being used to describe properties where historical environmental contamination, or even just the perception of contamination, has resulted in abandoned sites and disinterested developers. Putting a new business facility in where an old business existed before makes good economic and environmental sense for all of the vital communities. Wetlands, natural areas, and other "greenspaces" can be saved from development and urban sprawl if the groups work to redevelop properties in the urban areas where infrastructure already exists.

Brownfield problems are not limited to large cities with long histories of heavy industry and large-scale manufacturing activity. Small towns and villages all over northern Michigan also have suffered. They, too, are discovering that the creative, cooperative efforts of state and local resources can breathe new life into old abandoned properties. A single project in a small municipality can have a tremendously positive impact on new job creation, revitalizing the look of downtown areas and bringing critical economic growth to the community.

In 1995, Michigan's environmental cleanup law (the Natural Resources Environmental Protection Act, 1994 PA 451, Part 201) was amended. The amendments were designed to encourage and assist developers who want to return property to productive use more quickly and at a lower cost than before while still protecting human health and natural resources.

The liability scheme was changed significantly so that owners and operators of contaminated sites do not have to pay for cleanup unless they caused the contamination. Flexible cleanup standards give developers the option to propose a solution to historical contamination based on future use of the property.

Under the leadership of Gov. John Engler, the DEQ worked with the Michigan legislature in 1996 to pass a package of legislation that will provide funding for the state's environmental cleanup program. New cleanup funding was provided without creating any new debt or requiring new taxes. These new funds will allow the DEQ to place increased emphasis on redevelopment of contaminated brownfield sites, while continuing to use state funds to protect public health and the environment. The funds will also carry the state's cleanup program into the next decade, replacing the Quality of Life Bond Funds which have supported the cleanup program since 1989, but are now near exhaustion. Nearly $50 million in new cleanup funds will be available in 1997, with a large portion of these funds dedicated to state-funded cleanups at contaminated brownfield sites.

Another important component of the legislative package was the creation of new local funding tools. In some cases, local governments are the most logical entity to work with developers to conduct cleanup activities needed prior to re-use of the site. The new Brownfield Redevelopment Financing Act was passed to allow a local government to use the additional property taxes that are generated from a redeveloped property to reimburse itself for the cost of the cleanup work needed prior to reuse of the site. Another of the new laws created the Revitalization Revolving Loan Program. Under this program, the DEQ will issue loans to local governments for site assessments and demolition to "ready" sites for cleanup and redevelopment.

In addition to these recent initiatives, the DEQ also offers two grant programs for investigation and remediation of contaminated property. Funds from both grants are targeted to projects that promote economic development and property reuse.

Site Reclamation Grants provide funding to local units of government to investigate and remediate known sites of environmental contamination which will be used for identified economic development projects. As of December 1996, 28 grants totaling more than $17.5 million have been made to 23 Michigan communities.

Site Assessment Grants provided grant funding to qualified local units of government for environmental investigation of property with redevelopment potential to make it easier to sell these sites. In 1993, $10 million was made available to eligible Michigan communities. Thus far, 82 grants totaling over $9.6 million have been made to 38 Michigan communities.

Local government, property sellers, and developers can get additional information on options for developing brownfields in the northern lower peninsula by contacting John Alford, Gaylord/Grayling District Supervisor, at the Environmental Response Division's Gaylord office, 517-732-3541, or Grayling office, 517-348-6381.
